THE PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

FIRST ASSEMBLY OF VIRGINIA,

Held July 30th, 1619.

INTRODUCTION.

The documents herewith presented are printed from copies obtained from the Public Record Office of Great Britain. When the question of the boundary line between Maryland and Virginia was before the Legislature of the latter State, in 1860, Colonel Angus W. McDonald was sent to England to obtain the papers necessary to protect the interests of Virginia. He brought back "nine volumes of manuscripts and one book containing forty-eight maps" (see his report, Virginia Legislative Documents, No. 39, 1861,). The volumes of manuscripts contained, upon an average, 425 pages each, and were filled with valuable historical documents, of many of which no copies had ever been seen on this continent since the originals were sent from the Colony of Virginia. In a conversation with the writer, held soon after his return from England, in March, 1861, Colonel McDonald stated that having obtained copies of all the documents relating to the question of the boundary line which could be found, and having more money left of the appropriation made than was needed to pay the expenses of his return home, he decided to devote the surplus to obtaining copies of papers relating to the early history of the State, without reference to the question of the boundary line. This statement will, we presume, satisfactorily account for the presence in his collection of such papers as do not relate to the subject upon which he was engaged. That he was well qualified to select such papers is evident from an examination of the list which he made out.

During the occupation of the State capitol building by the Federal troops and officials, after the surrender of the Confederate authorities in April, 1865, a very large quantity of the official documents filed in the archives of the State were removed from that building, and at the same time four of the nine volumes and the portfolio of maps above mentioned. Nothing has been heard from any of them since. In 1870, the question of the boundary line being again before the Legislature of Virginia, the Governor sent the Hon. D. C. De Jarnette upon the same errand that Colonel McDonald had so well performed, and the result was the obtaining of such papers as he could find relating to the subject under consideration, including duplicates of some of those which though useful in this connection, are included in the five volumes remaining of those collected by Col. McDonald; also, charters of great length, but which are to be found in print in the histories and statutes of the State, and many of the miscellaneous papers which Colonel McDonald had copied under the circumstances above named. Among the latter is the account of the first meeting of the Assembly at Jamestown in 1619. When Colonel McDonald visited the State Paper Office (as it was then called) in 1860, this great repository of historical materials had not been thrown open to the public, and he tells us in his report that it was "twenty days after his arrival in London before he could obtain permission to examine the archives of the State Paper Office." A year or two afterwards all of the restrictions which had existed were removed, the papers arranged chronologically, and an index made by which they could be referred to. Farther, W. Noel Sainsbury, Esq., one of the officers of what is now called the Public Record Office, had published a calendar of all the papers relating to the British colonies in North America and the West Indies, from the first discoveries to 1660 (soon be followed by another coming down to the period of the independence of the United States), which contains a brief abstract of every paper included in the above named period, so that enquirers upon subjects embraced in this calendar can by reference see what the office has on file relating to it, and obtain copies of the documents required, at a much less cost than a voyage to England. Acting upon this knowledge, the Library Committee of the Virginia Legislature has made a contract with Mr. Sainsbury for copies of the titles and copious abstracts of every paper in the Public Record Office, and other repositories, which relates to the history of Virginia while a Colony. All of which he proposes to furnish for about £250, being less than one-half the cost of either of the missions sent, which have obtained only a small fraction of the papers which we are to receive. He is performing his work in a most satisfactory manner; so much is he interested in the task that he has greatly exceeded his agreement by furnishing gratuitously full and complete copies of many documents of more than ordinary interest. Yet notwithstanding the known facilities afforded by the British Government and its officials, Mr. De Jarnette complains that he was refused permission to examine the Rolls Office and the State Paper Office (see his report, Senate Documents Session 1871-'2, p. 12); and further, on page 15, he informs us that the papers which he obtained "had to be dug from a mountain of Colonial records with care and labor." His troubles were further increased by the fact that "the Colonial papers are not arranged under heads of respective Colonies, but thrown promiscuously together and constitute an immense mass of ill kept and badly written records," ib. p. 22.

The reader will infer from the preceding remarks that the State has two complete copies of the record of the proceedings of the first Assembly which met at Jamestown, viz: the McDonald and the De Jarnette copies, and also an abstract furnished by Mr. Sainsbury. Bancroft, the historian, obtained a copy of this paper, which was printed in the collections of the New York Historical Society for 1857. We have therefore been enabled to compare three different versions, and in a measure, a fourth. The De Jarnette copy being in loose sheets, written on one side only, was selected as the most convenient for the printer, and the text is printed from it. Where this differs from either of the others the foot notes show the differences, and when no reference is made it is because all of them correspond.

When these papers were submitted as a part of the report of the Commissioners on the Boundary Line a joint resolution was adopted by both houses of the Legislature authorizing the Committee on the Library to print such of the papers as might be selected, provided the consent of the Commission could be obtained. Application was made to allow the first and second papers in this pamphlet to be printed but it was refused. The Commission having been dissolved the Committee on the Library have assumed the responsibility and herewith submit this instalment of these interesting documents, which were written before the Colony of Maryland was known, and all of which, save the first, were never before printed.

The Report of the proceedings of the first Assembly is prefaced with the introductory note published with Mr. Bancroft's copy, to which a few notes explanatory have been added.

Introduction.

Trusting that this instalment of these historical records of the Ancient Dominion will be acceptable to the students of our early history, and sufficiently impress the members of the Legislature with their value to move them to make an appropriation sufficient to print all that has been obtained, this is

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

Virginia, for twelve years after its settlement, languished under the government of Sir Thomas Smith, Treasurer of the Virginia Company in England. The Colony was ruled during that period by laws written in blood; and its history shows how the narrow selfishness of despotic power could counteract the best efforts of benevolence. The colonists suffered an extremity of distress too horrible to be described.

In April, 1619, Sir George Yeardley arrived. Of the emigrants who had been sent over at great cost, not one in twenty then remained alive. "In James City were only those houses that Sir Thomas Gates built in the tyme of his government, with one wherein the Governor allwayes dwelt, and a church, built wholly at the charge of the inhabitants of that citye, of timber, being fifty foote in length and twenty foot in breadth." At Henrico, now Richmond, there were no more than "three old houses, a poor ruined Church, with some few poore buildings in the Islande."¹ "For ministers to instruct the people, he founds only three authorized, two others who never received their orders." "The natives he founde uppon doubtfull termes;" so that when the twelve years of Sir Thomas Smith's government expired, Virginia, according to the "judgements" of those who were then members of the Colony, was "in a poore estate."*

From the moment of Yeardley's arrival dates the real life of Virginia. He brought with him "Commissions and instructions from the Company for the better establishinge of a Commonwealth heere."† He made proclamation, "that those cruell lawes by which we" (I use the words of the Ancient Planters themselves) "had soe longe been governed, were now abrogated, and that we were to be governed by those free lawes which his Majestiss subjectes live under in Englands." Nor were these considerations made dependent on the good will of administrative officers.

"And that they might have a hande in the governinge of themselves," such are the words of the Planters, "yt was graunted that a generall Assemblie shoulde be helde yearly once, whereat were to be present the Govr and Counsell wth two Burgesses from each Plantation, freely to be elected by the Inhabitants thereof, this Assemblie to have power to make and ordaine whatsoever lawes and orders should by them be thought good and proffitable for our subsistance."‡

In conformity with these instructions, Sir George Yeardley "sente his summons all over the country, as well to invite those of the Counsell of Estate that were absente, as also for the election of Burgesses;"|| and on Friday, the 30th day of July, 1619, the first elective legislative body of this continent assembled at James City.

In the relation of Master John Rolfe, inserted by Captain John Smith in his History of Virginia,* there is this meagre notice of the Assembly: "The 25 of June came in the Triall with Corne and Cattell in all safety, which tooke from vs cleerely all feare of famine; then our gouernor and councell caused Burgesses to be chosen in all places, and met at a generall Assembly, where all matters were debated thought expedient for the good of the Colony."

This account did not attract the attention of Beverley, the early historian of Virginia, who denies that there was any Assembly held there before May, 1620.†

The careful Stith, whose work is not to be corrected without a hearty recognition of his superior diligence and exemplary fidelity, gives an account‡ of this first legislative body, though he errs a little in the date by an inference from Rolfe's narrative, which the words do not warrant.

The prosperity of Virginia begins with the day when it received, as "a commonwealth," the freedom to make laws for itself. In a solemn address to King James, which was made during the government of Sir Francis Wyatt, and bears the signature of the Governor, Council, and apparently every member of the Assembly, a contrast is drawn between the former "miserable bondage," and "this just and gentle authoritye which hath cherished us of late by more worthy magistrates. And we, our wives and poor children shall ever pray to God, as our bounden duty is, to give you in this worlde all increase of happines, and to crowne you in the worlds to come wth immortall glorye."§

A desire has long existed to recover the record of the proceedings of the Assembly which inaugurated so happy a revolution. Stith was unable to find it; no traces of it were met by Jefferson; and Hening,|| and those who followed Hening, believed it no longer extant. Indeed, it was given up as hopelessly lost.

Having, during a long period of years, instituted a very thorough research among the papers relating to America in the British State Paper Office, partly in person and partly with the assistance of able and intelligent men employed in that Department, I have at last been so fortunate as to obtain the "Proceedings of the First Assembly of Virginia."¶ The document is in the form of "a reporte" from the Speaker; and is § MS. Copy of Address of Sir Francis Wyatt, &c., &c., to King James I., signed by Sir Francis Wyatt and 32 others.

|| Hening's Statutes at Large, I., p. 119, refers to the acts of 1623-'4 as "the earliest now extant."

⁴ "And about the latter end of June (1619) he (Sir George Yeardley, Governor,) called the first General Assembly that was ever held in Virginia. Counties were not yet laid off, but they elected their representatives by townships. So that the Burroughs of Jamestown, Henrico, Bermuda Hundred, and the rest, each sent their members to the Assembly." * * * * "and hence it is that our lower house of Assembly was first called the House of Burgesses," Stith, p. 160. "In May, this year (1620), there was held another Generall Assembly, which has, through mistake, and the indolence and negligence of our historians in searching such ancient records as are still extant in the country, been commonly reported the first General Assembly," ib. p. 182. We do not see that Stith "errs" even "a little in the date." Rolfe says, "The 25 of June came in the Triall with Corne and Cattell in all safety, which took from us cleerely all feare of famine, then our gouernor and councell caused Burgesses to be chosen in all places, and met at a generall Assembly," Smith, p. 126. Stith says, "And about the latter end of June he called," &c., Stith, p. 160. Neither intimate when the Assembly met, only that the governor called them in the latter part of June.—Ed.

more full and circumstantial than any subsequent journal of early legislation in the Ancient Dominion.

Many things are noticeable. The Governor and Council sat with the Burgesses, and took part in motions and debates. The Secretary of the Colony was chosen Speaker, and I am not sure that he was a Burgess.⁶ This first American Assembly set the precedent of beginning legislation with prayer. It is evident that Virginia was then as thoroughly a Church of England colony, as Connecticut afterwards was a Calvinistic one. The inauguration of legislative power in the Ancient Dominion preceded the existence of negro slavery, which we will believe it is destined also to survive. The earliest Assembly in the oldest of the original thirteen States, at its first session, took measures "towards the erecting of" a "University and Colledge." Care was also taken for the education of Indian children. Extravagance in dress was not prohibited, but the ministers were to profit by a tax on excess in apparel. On the whole, the record of these Proceedings will justify the opinion of Sir Edward Sandys, that "they were very well and judiciously carried." The different functions of government may have been confounded and the laws were not framed according to any speculative theory; but a perpetual interest attaches to the first elective body representing the people of Virginia, more than a year before the Mayflower, with the Pilgrims, left the harbor of Southampton, and while Virginia was still the oldest British Colony on the whole Continent of America.

GEORGE BANCROFT.

NEW YORK, October 3, 1856.

⁶ The Secretary of the Colony and Speaker of the first Assembly was John Pory. If he had been one of the Burgesses his name would have appeared with the others. Through the influence of the Earl of Warwick he was made Secretary to the Virginia Company. Campbell says, "He was educated at Cambridge, where he took the Master of Arts in April, 1610. It is supposed he was a member of the House of Commons. He was much of a traveller, and was at Venice in 1613, at Amsterdam in 1617, and shortly after at Paris." "Sir George Yeardley appointed him one of his Council."—Campbell, p. 139. The record shows that he acted as the presiding officer of the first Assembly, whether ex officio or by selection is not stated. It will be seen that a typographical error in Bancroft's pamphlet makes his name Povy. In Smith's General Historie there is a paper styled "The observations of Master John Pory, Secretarie of Virginia, in his travels;" it gives an account of his voyage to the eastern shore.—Smith, p. 141. Neill says of him, "John Pory was a graduate of Cambridge, a great traveller and good writer, but gained the reputation of being a chronic tipler and literary vagabond and sponger." When young he excited the interest of Hakluyt, who, in a dedication to the third volume of his, remarks: "Now, because long since I did foresee that my profession of Divinitie, the care of my family, and other occasions, might call or divert me from these kind of endeavour, I, therefore have, for these three years last past, encouraged and gathered in these studies of Cosmographia and former histories my honest, industrious and learned friend, Mr. John Porey, one of speciall skill and extraordinary hope, to perform great matters in the same, and beneficial to the Commonwealth." "Pory, in 1600, prepared a Geographical History of Africa, but he soon disappointed the expectations of his friends."

A letter from London, dated July 26, 1623, says: "Our old acquaintance, Mr. Porey, is in poore case, and in prison at the Terceras, whither he was driven by contrary winds, from the north coast of Virginia, where he had been upon some discovery, and upon his arrival he was arraigned and in danger of being hanged for a pirate." "He died about 1635." For further particulars from contemporary authorities, see Neill's History of the Virginia Company of London. Albany, Munsell, 1869.—Ed.

orders w^{er}¹⁷ the great charter faith are to extende¹⁸ over the whole Colony, but also from diverse such lawes as we must be enforced¹⁹ to make in the General Asssembly. That clause is as followeth: Item. That it shall and may be lawfull to and for the said Captain John Martin, his heyers, executours and assignes to governe and comaunde all fuche²⁰ person or persons as at this time he shall carry over with him, or that shalbe²¹ fente him hereafter, free from any comaunde of the Colony, excepte it be in ayding and assisting the same against²² any forren or domestical enemy.

Upon the²³ motion of the Governour, discussed the same time in the asssembly, ensued this order following:

An order of the General Asssembly touching a clause in Captain²⁴ Martin's Patent at James Citty, July 30, 1619.

After all the Burgeffes had taken the oath of Supremacy and were admitted into the house, and all fett downe in their places, a Copie of Captain²⁴ Martin's Patent²⁵ was produced by the Govern^{or}²⁶ out of a Clause whereof it appeared that when the general²⁷ asssembly had made some kinde of lawes requisite for the whole Colony, he and his Burgeffes and people might deride the whole company and chuse whether they would obay²⁸ the same or no.* It was therefore ordered in Courte that the foresaid two Burgeffes should wth drawe themselves out of the asssembly till fuche time as Captaine Martin had made his personall appearance before them. At what time, if upon their motion, if he would be contente to quitte and give over that parte of his Patente, and contrary therunto woulde submitte himselfe to the general forme of governement as all others did, that then his Burgeffes should be readmitted, otherwise they were utterly to be excluded as being spies rather than³⁴ loyal Burgeffes, because they had offered themselves to be assistant at the making of ³⁵ lawes w^{ch} both themselves and those whom they represented might chuse whether they would obaye³⁶ or not.

Then came there in a complainte against Captain³⁷ Martin, that having fente his Shallop to trade for corne into the baye, under the commaunde of one Ensigne Harrison, the saide Ensigne should affirme to one Thomas Davis, of Paspaheighe,³⁸ Gent. (as the said Thomas Davis deposed upon oathe,) that they had made a harde voiage, had

For the Indians refusing to sell their Corne, those of the shallop entered the Canoa wth their armes and tooke it by force, measuring out the corne wth a baskett they had into the Shallop and (as the said Ensigne Harrison saith) giving them satisfaction in copper beades³⁹ and other trucking stufte.

Hitherto Mr. Davys upon his oath.

Furthermore it was signified from Opochancano to the Governour that those people had complained to him to procure them justice.⁴⁰ For w^{ch} considerations and because suche⁴¹ outrages as this might breede danger and loss⁴² of life to others of the Colony w^{ch} should have leave to trade in the baye hereafter, and for prevention of the like violences against the Indians in time to come, this order following was agreed on by the general assembly:

A second order against Captain Martin, at James citty, July 30, 1619.

It was also ordered by the Assembly the same daye that in case Captaine Martin and the ging of his shallop would⁴³ not throughly answer an accusation of an outrage committed against a certaine Canoa of Indians in the baye, that then it was thought reason (his Patent,⁴⁴ notwithstanding the authority whereof, he had in that case abused) he shoulde⁴⁵ from henceforth take leave of the Governour⁴⁶ as other men, and should putt⁴⁷ in security, that his people shall committe no such⁴⁸ outrage any more.

Upon this a letter or warrant was drawen in the name of the whole assembly to summon Captaine Martin to appeare before them in forme following:

By the Governo^r⁴⁹ and general assembly of Virginia.

Captaine Martine, we are to request⁵⁰ you upon sight hereof, with all convenient speed to repaire hither to James citty to treatt and conferre wth us about some matters of especial⁵¹ importance, w^{ch} concerns⁵² both us and the whole Colony and yourself. And of this we praye you not to faile.

Which⁵³ done, he read unto them the comission for establishing the Counsell of Estate and the general⁵⁴ Assembly, wherein their duties were described to the life.

Having thus prepared them, he read over unto them the greate Charter, or comission of priviledges, orders and lawes, sent by Sir George Yeardley out of Englande.⁵⁵ Which⁵⁶ for the more ease of the Committies, having divided into fower books, he read the former two the same forenoon for expeditious⁵⁷ sake, a second time over, and so they were referred to the perusal of twoe Comitties, w^{ch} did reciprocally consider of either, and accordingly brought in their opinions. the perusall of those twoe bookes. And whereas the Speaker had propounded fower severall objects for the Assemblies to consider on: namely, first, the great charter of orders, lawes and priviledges; Secondly, which of the instructions given by the Counsell in England to my lo: la: warre,⁶² Captain Argall or Sir George Yeardley, might conveniently putt on the habite of lawes; Thirdly, what lawes might issue out of the private conceipte of any of the Burgeses, or any other of the Colony; and lastly, what petitions were⁶³ fitt to be sente home for England. It pleased the Governour⁶⁴ for expedition⁶⁵ sake to have the second objecte⁶⁶ of the fower to be examined & prepared by himselfe and the Non-Comitties. Wherin after having spent some three howers⁶⁷ conference, the twoe Committies⁶⁸ brought in their opinions concerning the twoe former bookes, (the second of which beginneth at these wordes of the Charter: And forasmuche as our intente is to establish one equall and uniforme kinde of government over all Virginia &c.,)⁶⁹ w^{ch} the whole Assembly, because it was late, deferred to treatt⁷⁰ of till the next morning.

SATURDAY, July 31.

The nexte daye, therefore, out of the opinions of the faid Comitties,⁷¹ it was agreed, these⁷² Petitions ensuing should be framed, to be presented to the Treasurer, Counsell & Company in England. Upon the Comitties⁷³ perusall of the first booke,⁷⁴ the General⁷⁵ Assembly doe become most humble suitours to their lo^{ps} and to the rest of that hon^{ble} Counsell and renowned Company, that albeit they have bene pleased⁷⁶ to allotte unto the Governour⁷⁷ to themselves, together wth the Counsell of Estate here, and⁷⁸ to the officers of Incorporations, certain lande⁷⁹ portions of lande to be layde out wthin the limites of the same, yet that⁸⁰ they woulde vouchsafe also,⁸¹ that⁸² groundes as heretofore had bene granted by patent to the antient⁸³ Planters by former Governours that had from the Company received comission⁸⁴ so to doe, might not nowe after so muche labour and coste, and so many yeares habitation be taken from them. And to the ende that no man might doe or suffer any wrong in this kinde, that they woulde favour us so muche (if they meane to graunte this our petition) as to sende us notice, what comission or authority for graunting of landes they have given to eache⁸⁵ particular Governour in times paste.

The second petition of the General assembly framed by the Co-mitties⁸⁶ out of the second book is. That the Treasurer⁸⁷ & Company in England would be pleased wth as muche convenient speed⁸⁸ as may be to fende men hither to occupie their landes belonging to the fower Incorporations, as well for their owne⁸⁹ behoofe and proffitt as for the maintenance of the Counsell⁹⁰ of Estate, who are nowe⁹¹ to their extream hindrance often drawen far from their private busines and likewise that they will have a care to fende⁹² tenants to the ministers of the fower Incorporations to manure their gleab, to the intente that the allowance they have allotted them of 200 G.⁹³ a yeare may the more easly be raised.

The thirde Petition humbly presented by this General Assembly to the Treasurer, Counsell & Company is, that it may plainly be expressed in the great Comission (as indeed it is not) that the antient Planters of both fortes, viz., fuche as before Sir Thomas Dales' depart⁹⁴ were come hither upon their owne chardges,⁹⁵ and fuche also as were brought hither upon the Companie's coste, maye have their second, third and more divisions successively in as lardge and free manner as any other Planters. Also that they wilbe pleased to allowe to the male children, of them and of all others begotten in Virginia, being the onely hope of a posterity, a single share a piece, and shares for their issues or⁹⁶ for themselves, because that in a newe plantation it is not known whether man or woman be the more necessary.

Their fourth Petition is to beseech the Treasurer, Counsell & Company that they would be pleased to appoint a Sub-Treasurer⁹⁷ here to collecte their rents,⁹⁸ to the ende that⁹⁹ the Inhabitants of this Colony be not tyed to an impossibility of paying the same yearly to the Treasurer in England, and that they would enjoin the said Sub-Treasurer not precisely according to the letter of the Charter to exacte mony of us (whereof we have none at all, as we have no minte), but the true value of the rente in comodity.

The fifte Petition is to beseeche the Treasurer, Counsell & Company that, towards the erecting of the University and Colledge, they will fende, when they shall thinke¹⁰⁰ it most convenient, workmen of all fortes, fitt for that purpose.

The sixte and laste is, they wilbe¹⁰¹ pleased to change the savage name of Kiccowtan, and to give that Incorporation a newe name.

These are the general Petitions drawn by the Comitties out of the two former bookes w^{ch} the whole general assembly in maner and forme above¹⁰² sett downe doe most humbly offer up and present¹⁰³ to the honourable construction of the Treasurer, Counsell and Company in England.

⁸⁶Comittess, McDonald. ⁸⁷Tresurer, McDonald. ⁸⁸speede, McDonald. ⁸⁹own, Bancroft. ⁹⁰Counsell, McDonald and Bancroft. ⁹¹now, McDonald. ⁹²send, McDonald. ⁹³£200, Bancroft. ⁹⁴In the McDonald copy this was just written departure, then "ure" crossed out with a pen, and the word made department. Bancroft has departure. ⁹⁵Charges, McDonald. ⁹⁶McDonald and Bancroft both have "wives as," instead of "issues or," the former being evidently the proper words. ⁹⁷Treasurer, McDonald. ⁹⁸rentes, McDonald, Bancroft. ⁹⁹McDonald and Bancroft both omit that. ¹⁰⁰McDonald and Bancroft omit it. ¹⁰¹will be, McDonald. ¹⁰²sette, Bancroft. ¹⁰³presente, McDonald and Bancroft.

These petitions thus concluded on, those twoe Comitties broughte me¹⁰⁴ a reporte what they had observed in the two latter bookes, w^{ch} was nothing else but that the perfection of them was fuche as that ¹⁰⁵ they could finde nothing therein subject to exception, only the Govern^{rs} ¹⁰⁶ particular opinion to my selfe in private hathe bene as touching a clause in the thirde booke, that in these doubtfull times between us and the Indians, it would beehooove¹⁰⁷ us not to make as¹⁰⁸ lardge distances between Plantation and Plantation as ten miles, but for our more strength ande security to drawe nearer together.

At the fame time, there remaining no¹⁰⁹ farther scruple in the mindes of the Assemblies touching the said great Charter of lawes, orders and priviledges, the Speaker putt the same to the question, and so it had both the general assent and the applause of the whole assembly, who, as they professed themselves in the first place most submissively thankfull to almighty god, therefore so they commaunded the Speaker to returne (as nowe he doth) their due and humble thanks to the Treasurer, Counsell and company for so many priviledges and favours as well in their owne names as in the names of the whole Colony whom they represented.

This being dispatched we fell once more¹¹⁰ debating of fuche instructions given by the Counsell in England to severall¹¹¹ Govern^{rs} ¹¹² as might be converted into lawes, the last whereof was the Establishment of the price of Tobacco, namely, of the best at 3d¹¹³ and the second at 18d the pounce. At the reading of this the Assembly thought good to fend for Mr. Abraham Persey, the Cape marchant, to publishe this instruction to him, and to demaunde¹¹⁴ of him if he knewe of any impediment why it might not be admitted of? His answer¹¹⁵ was that he had not as yet received any fuche order from the Adventurers of the¹¹⁶ in England. And notwthstanding he sawe the authority was good, yet was he unwilling to yield, till fuche time as the Govern^r ¹¹⁷ and Assembly had layd their commandment upon him, out of the authority of the foresaid Instructions as followeth:

By the General Assembly.

We will and require you, Mr. Abraham Persey, Cape Marchant, from this daye forward to take notice, that, according to an article in the Instructions confirmed by the Treasurer, Counsell¹¹⁸ and Company in Englande at a general quarter courte, both by¹¹⁹ voices and under their hands¹²⁰ and the Comon seall,¹²¹ and given to Sir George Yeardley, James citty out of the faid General Affembly, July 31,¹²⁶ 1619.

At the fame¹²⁷ the Instructions convertible into lawes were referred to the consideration of the above named Committies,¹²⁸ viz., the general Instructions to the first Committie¹²⁹ and the particular Instructions to the second, to be returned by them into the affembly on Munday morning.

SUNDAY, Aug. 1.

Mr. Shelley, one of the Burgeffes, deceased.

MUNDAY,¹³⁰ Aug. 2.

Captain John Martin (according to the fumons sent him on Fryday,¹³¹ July 30,) made his personall appearance at the barre, whenas the Speaker having first read unto him the orders of the Affembly that concerned him, he pleaded lardgely for himself¹³² to them both and indevoured¹³³ to answere some other thinges¹³⁴ that were objected against¹³⁵ his Patente. In fine, being demanded out of the former order whether he would quitte that clause of his Patent¹³⁶ w^{ch} (quite otherwise then Sir William Throckmorton's, Captain Christopher Dawnes'¹³⁷ and other men's patentes) exempteth himselfe and his people from all services of the Colonie excepte onely in case of warre against¹³⁸ a forren or domestically enemye. His answere¹³⁹ was negative, that he would not infringe any parte¹⁴⁰ of his Patente. Whereupon it was resolved by the Affembly that his Burgeffes should have no admittance.

To the second order his answere was affirmative, namely, that (his Patent¹⁴¹ notwithstanding) whensoever he should fend into the baye to trade, he would¹⁴² be contente to putt in security to the Governour¹⁴³ for the good behaviour of his people towards¹⁴⁴ the Indians.

It was at the same time further ordered by the Affembly that the Speaker, in their names, should (as he nowe doth¹⁴⁵) humbly demaunde¹⁴⁶ of the Treasurer, Counsell¹⁴⁷ and Company an exposition of this one clause in Captaine¹⁴⁸ Martin's Patente, namely, where it is faide That he is to enjoye¹⁴⁹ his landes in as lardge¹⁵⁰ and ample manner, to all

By this present Generall Affsembly be it enacted, that no¹⁸¹ injury or oppreffion be wrought by the Englishe¹⁸² against¹⁸³ the Indians whereby the present peace might be disturbed and antient quarrells might be revived. And farther¹⁸⁴ be it ordained, that the Chicohomini are not to be excepted out of this lawe; untill either that suche¹⁸⁵ order come out of Englande, or that they doe provoke us by some newe injury.

Against Idlenes, Gaming, durunkenes & excefse in apparell the Affsembly hath enacted as followeth:

First, in detestation of Idlenes¹⁸⁶ be it enacted, that if any men be founde to live as an Idler or renagate, though a freedman, it shalbe¹⁸⁷ lawfull for that Incorporation or Plantation to w^{ch} he belongeth to appoint him a M^r to ferve for wages, till he shewe apparant signes of amendment.

Against gaming at dice¹⁸⁸ & Cardes be it ordained by this present affsembly that the winner or winners shall lose all his or their winninges and¹⁸⁹ both winners and loofers shall forfeite¹⁹⁰ ten shillings a man, one ten shillings whereof to go to the discoverer, and the rest to charitable & pious uses in the Incorporation where the faulte¹⁹¹ is comitted.

Against drunkenness be it also decreed that if any private person be found culpable thereof, for the first time he is to be reprooved privately by the Minister, the second time publicly, the thirde time to lye in boltes 12 bowers in the house of the Provost Marshall & to paye his fee,¹⁹² and if he still continue in that vice, to undergo fuche severe punishment as the Govern^r¹⁹³ and Counsell of Estate shall thinke fitt to be inflicted on him. But if any officer offende in this crime, the first time he shall receive a reproof from the Governour, the second time he shall openly be reprooved in the church by the minister, and the third time he shall first be comitted and then degraded. Provided it be understood that the Govern^r¹⁹⁴ hath alwayes¹⁹⁵ power to restore him when he shall, in his discretion thinke fitte.

Against excesse in¹⁹⁶ apparell that every man be cessed in the church for all publique contributions, if he be unmarried according to his owne apparrell, if he be married, according to his owne and his wives, or either of their apparell.

As touching the instruction¹⁹⁷ of drawing some of the better disposed of the Indians to converse wth our people & to live and labour amongst¹⁹⁸ them, the Affsembly who knowe¹⁹⁹ well their dispositions thinke it fitte to enjoin²⁰⁰, least to counsell those of the Colony, neither utterly to rejecte them nor yet to drawe them to come in. But in case they will of themselves come voluntarily to places well peopled, there to doe service in killing of Deere, fishing, beating of Corne and other workes, that then five or six may be admitted into every such place, and no more, and that wth the consente²⁰¹ of the Governour. Provided that good²⁰² garde²⁰³ in the night be kept upon them, for generally (though some amongst many may proove²⁰⁴ good) they are a most trecherous people and quickly gone when they have done a villany. And it were fitt²⁰⁵ a housew^e builte for them to lodge in aparte²⁰⁶ by themselves, and lone inhabitants by no meanes²⁰⁷ to entertaine them.

Be it enacted by this present assembly that for laying a surer foundation of the conversion of the Indians to Christian Religion, cache towne, citty, Borrough, and particular plantation do obtaine unto themselves by just means a certaine number of the natives' children to be educated by them in true religion and civile course of life—of w^{ch} children the most towardly boyes in witt & graces of nature to be brought up by them in the first elements of litterature, so²⁰⁸ to be fitted for the Colledge intended for them that from thence they may be fente²⁰⁹ to that worke of conversion.

As touching the busines of planting corne this present Assembly doth ordaine that yeare by yeare all & every householder and householders have in store for every servant he or they shall keep, and also for his or their owne persons, whether they have any Servants or no, one spare barrell of corne, to be delivered out yearly, either upon sale or exchange as need shall require. For the neglecte²¹⁰ of w^{ch} duty he shalbe²¹¹ subjecte to the censure of the Govern^r²¹² and Counsell of Estate. Provided alwayes that the first yeare of every newe man this lawe shall not be of²¹³ force.

About the plantation of Mulberry trees, be it enacted that every man as he is seatted²¹⁴ upon his division, doe for seven yeares together, every yeare plante and maintaine in growte²¹⁵ fix²¹⁶ Mulberry trees at the least,²¹⁷ and as many more as he shall thinke conveniente and as his virtue²¹⁸ & Industry shall move him to plante, and that all suche persons as shall neglecte the yearly planting and maintaining of that small proportion shalbe²¹⁹ subjecte to the censure of the Governour & the Counsell of Estate.

Be it farther²²⁰ enacted as concerning Silke-flaxe, that those men that are upon their division or fetled²²¹ habitation doe this next²²² yeare plante & dresse 100 plantes, w^{ch} being founde a comeditie,²²³ may farther be increased. And whosoever do fail in the performance of this shalbe²²⁴ subject to this punishment of the Governour²²⁵ & Counsell of Estate.

For hempe also both Englishe & Indian, and for Englishe²²⁶ flax & Annifeeds, we do²²⁷ require and enjoin all householders of this Colony that have any of those seeds²²⁸ to make tryal thereofe the nexte feason.

Moreover be it enacted by this present Affsembly, that every householder doe yearly plante and maintaine ten vines untill they have attained to the art and experience of dressing a Vineyard either by their owne industry or by the Instruction of some Vigneron. And that upon what penalty soever the Govern^r²²⁹ and Counsell of Estate shall thinke fitt to impose upon the neglecters of this acte.

Be it also enacted that all necessary tradesmen, or so²³⁰ many as need shall require, suche²³¹ as are come over since the departure of Sir Thomas Dale, or that shall hereafter come, shall worke at their trades for any other man, each²³² one being payde according to the quality²³³ of his trade and worke, to be estimated, if he shall not be contented, by the Govern^r and officers of the place where he worketh.

Be it further ordained by this General Affsembly, and we doe by these presents enacte, that all contractes²³⁴ made in England between the owners of lande and their Tenants and Servantes w^{ch} they shall fende²³⁵ hither, may be caused to be duely²³⁶ performed, and that the offenders be punished as the Governour²³⁷ and Counsell of Estate shall thinke just and convenient.

Be it established also by this present Affsembly that no crafty or advantagious means be suffered to be putt in practise for the inticing awaye the Tenants or²³⁸ Servants of any particular plantation from the place where they are seatted. And that it shalbe²³⁹ the duty of the Govern^r²⁴⁰ & Counsell of Estate most severely to punish both the seducers and the seduced, and to returne²⁴¹ these latter into their former places.

Be it further enacted that the orders for the Magazin²⁴² lately made be exactly kepte, and that the Magazin be preserved from wrong²⁴³ and sinister practises, and that according to the orders of courte in Englande²⁴⁴ all Tobacco and sassafras be brought²⁴⁵ by the Planters to the Cape marchant till suche time as all the goods²⁴⁶ nowe or heretofore sent for the Magazin be taken off their handes at the prices agreed on. That by this meanes²⁴⁷ the some²⁴⁸ going for Englande²⁴⁹ with²⁵⁰ one hande, the price thereof may be uphelde²⁵¹ the better. And to the ende that all the whole Colony may take notice of the last order of Courte made in Englande and all those whom it concerneth may knowe²⁵² howe²⁵³ to observe it, we²⁵⁴ holde it fitt to publishe it here for a lawe²⁵⁵ among the rest of our lawes. The w^{ch} ²⁵⁶ order is as followeth:

Upon the 26²⁵⁷ of October, 1618, it was ordered that the Magazin²⁵⁸ should continue during²⁵⁹ the terme formerly prefixed, and that certaine²⁶⁰ abuses now complained of should be reformed, and that for preventing of all Impositions save the allowance of 25 in the hundred proffitt, the Govern^r²⁶¹ shall have an invoice as well as the Cape Marchant, that if any abuse in the sale of the²⁶² goods be offered, wee, ²⁶³ upon Intelligence and due examination thereof, shall see it corrected. And for the encouragement²⁶⁴ of particular hundreds, as Smythe's hundred, Martin's hundred, Lawnes' hundred, and the like, it is agreed that what comodities are reaped upon anie of these General²⁶⁵ Colonies, it shalbe lawfull for them to returne the same to their owne adventurers. Provided that the same²⁶⁶ comodity be of their owne growing, wth out trading wth any other, in one entyre lumpe and not disperfed, and that at the determination of the jointe stocke, the goods then remaining in the Magazin²⁶⁷ shalbe²⁶⁸ bought by the said particular Colonies before any other goods w^{ch} shall be fente by private men. And it was moreover ordered that if the lady la warre, the Lady Dale, Captain Bargrave and the rest, would unite themselves into a fettled²⁶⁹ Colony they might be capable of the same priviledges that are graunted to any of the foresaid hundreds. Hitherto the order.

All²⁷⁰ the general Asseembly by voices concluded not only the acceptance and observation of this order, but of the Instruction also to Sir George Yeardley next preceding the same. Provided first, that the Cape Marchant do²⁷¹ accepte of the Tobacco of all and everie the Planters here in Virginia, either for Goods or upon billes of Exchange at three shillings the pounce the beste, and .18d the second sorte. Provided also that the billes be only payde in Englande. Provided, in the third place, that if any other besides the Magazin²⁷² have at any time any necessary comodity w^{ch} the Magazine doth wante, it shall and may be lawfull for any of the Colony to buye²⁷³ the said necessary comodity of the said party, but upon the termes of the Magazin²⁷⁴ viz: allowing no more gaine then 25 in the hundred, and that with the leave of the Governour. Provided lastely,²⁷⁵ that it may be lawfull²⁷⁶ for the Govern^r²⁷⁷ to give leave to any Mariner, or any other person, that shall have any suche necessary comodity wanting to the Magazin²⁷⁸ to carrie home for England so muche²⁷⁹ Tobacco or other naturall comodities of the Country²⁸⁰ as his Customers shall pay him for the said necessary comodity or comodities. and incite men, but inforce them also thoroughly and loyally to aire their Tobacco before they bring it to the Magazine,²⁸¹ be it enacted, and by these presents we doe enacte, that if upon the Judgement of power sufficient even of any incorporation where the Magazine²⁸² shall reside, (having first taken their oaths to give true sentence, twoe whereof to be chosen by the Cape Marchant and twoe by the Incorporation,) any Tobacco whatsoever shall not proove²⁸³ vendible at the second price, that it shall there immediately be burnt before the owner's face. Hitherto fuche lawes as were drawn out of the Instructions.

TUESDAY, Aug. 3,²⁸⁴ 1619.

This morning a thirde²⁸⁵ forte of lawes (fuche as might proceed out of every man's private conceipt²⁸⁶) were read and referred by halves to the fame comitties²⁸⁷ w^{ch} were from the beginning.

This done, Captaine²⁸⁸ William Powell presented to the Assembly a petition to have justice against a lewde²⁸⁹ and trecherous servante of his who by false accusation given up in writing to the Governo^r²⁹⁰ fought not onely to gett²⁹¹ him depofed from his government of James citty and utterly (according to the Proclamation) to be degraded from the place and title of a Captaine, but to take his life from him also. And so out of the said Petition sprang this order following:

Captaine William Powell presented a Petition to the generall²⁹² Assembly against²⁹³ one Thomas Garnett, a servant of his, not onely for extreame neglect of his busineff to the great loss²⁹⁴ and prejudice of the said Captaine, and for openly and impudently abusing his house, in fight both of Master and Mistresse, through wantonnes²⁹⁵ wth a woman servant of theirs, a widdowe, but also for falsely accusing him to the Governo^r²⁹⁶ both of Drunkenes &²⁹⁷ Theft, and besides for bringing all²⁹⁸ his fellow servants to testifie²⁹⁹ on his side, wherein they justly failed³⁰⁰ him. It was thought fitt by the general assembly (the Governour himfelfe³⁰¹ giving sentence), that he should stand³⁰² fower dayes with his eares nayled to the Pillory, viz: Wednesday, Aug. 4th, and so likewise Thursday, fryday and Satturday³⁰³ next following, and every of those fower dayes should be publicuely whipped. Now, as touching the neglecte of his worke, what satisfaction ought to be made to his M^r for that is referred to the Governour and Counsell of Estate.

The fame morning the lawes abovewritten, drawn out of the instructions, were read, and one by one thoroughly examined, and then passed once again³⁰⁴ the general³⁰⁵ confente of the whole Assembly.

This afternoon the committies brought in a reporte, what they had done as concerning the third forte of lawes, the discussing whereof spente the residue of that daye. Excepte onely the consideration of a petition of Mr John Rolfes againste Captaine John Martine³⁰⁶ for writing a letter to him wherein (as Mr Rolfe alledgeth) he taxeth him both unfeemly³⁰⁷ and amisse of certaine thinges³⁰⁸ wherein he was never faulty, and besides, casteth some aspersions upon the present government, w^{ch} is the most temperate and juste³⁰⁹ that ever was in this country, too milde, indeed, for many of³¹⁰ this Colony, whom unwoonted³¹¹ liberty hath made insolente and not to knowe³¹² themselves. This Petition of Mr Rolfes' was thought fitt to be referred to the Counsell of State.

WEDENSDAY, Aug. 4th.

This daye (by reason of extream heat, both paste and likely to en-sue, and by that meanes of the alteration of the healthes of diverse of the general Asssembly) the Governour, who³¹³ himselfe also³¹⁴ was not well, resolved should be the last of this first session; so in the morning the Speaker (as he was required by the Asssembly) redd over all the lawes and orders that had formerly passed the house, to give the same yett one reviewe³¹⁵ more, and to see whether there were any thing to be amended or that might be excepted againste. This being done, the third forte of lawes w^{ch} I am nowe coming³¹⁶ to fett downe, were read over thoroughly³¹⁷ discussed, w^{ch}, together wth the former, did now passe the laste and finall consente of the General³¹⁸ Asssembly.

A third forte of lawes, fuche as may³¹⁹ issue out of every man's private³²⁰ conceipte.

It shalbe free for every man to trade wth the Indians, servants onely excepted, upon paine of whipping, unless the Mr will³²¹ redeeme it off wth the payment of an Angell, one-fourth parte whereof to go³²² to the Provost Marshall, one fourth parte to the discoverer, and the other moyty to the publique uses of the Incorporation.³²³

That no man doe³²⁴ sell or give any of the greater howes to the Indians, or any Englishe dog of quality, as a mastive,³²⁶ greyhound, bloodhounde, lande or water spaniel, or any other dog or bitche whatsoever, of the Englishe race, upon paine of forfaiting 5^s ³²⁷sterling to the publique uses of the Incorporation where he dwelleth.

That no man may go above twenty miles from his dwelling-place, nor upon any voiage whatsoever shalbe absent from thence for the space of seven dayes together wthout first having made the Governo^r ³³⁰ or comaunder of the same place acquainted therwth, ³³¹ upon paine³³² of paying twenty shillings³³³ to the publique uses of the same Incorporation where the party delinquent dwelleth.

That noe man shall purposely goe to any Indian townes, habitations or places of resort³³⁴ wthout leave from the Governo^r ³³⁵ or comaunder³³⁶ of that place where he liveth, upon paine of paying 40^s to publique uses as aforefaid.

That no man living in this Colony, but shall between this and the first of January nexte ensuing come or fende to the Secretary of Estate ³³⁷ to enter his own and all his servants' names, and for what terme or upon what conditions they are to ferve, upon penalty of paying 40^s to the said Secretary of Estate.³³⁸ Also, whatsoever M^{rs} or people doe³³⁹ come over to this plantation that within³⁴⁰ one month of their arrivall (notice being first given them of this very lawe) they shall likewise reforte to the Secretary of Estate³⁴¹ and shall certifie him upon what termes or conditions they be come hither, to the ende that he may recorde their grauntes and comissions, and for how long time and upon what conditions³⁴² their servants (in case they have any) are to ferve them, and that upon paine of the penalty nexte above mentioned.

All Ministers in the Colony shall once a year, namely, in the moneth of Marche, bring to the Secretary of Estate a true account of all Christenings, burials and marriages, upon paine, if they fail, to be censured for their negligence by the Governo^r ³⁴³ and Counsell³⁴⁴ of Estate; likewise, where there be no ministers, that the commanders of the place doe supply the same duty.

No man, wthout leave of the Governo^r, shall kill any Neatt cattle whatsoever, young or olde, especially kine, Heyfurs or cow-calves, and shalbe³⁴⁵ carefull to preserve their steeres³⁴⁶ and oxen, and to bring them to the plough and such profitable uses, and wthout having obtained leave as aforefaid, shall not kill them, upon penalty of forfeiting the value of the beast so killed.

Whosoever shall take any of his neighbours' boates, oares, or canoas wthout leave from the owner shalbe held³⁴⁸ and esteemed as a felon and so proceeded against;³⁴⁹ tho³⁵⁰ hee that shall take away by violence or stelh any canoas or other thinges from the Indians shall make being bound for Kiccowtan,³⁸⁰ or any other parte on this side,³⁸¹ the same shall presume to pass by, either by day or by night, without touching first here at James city to knowe³⁸² whether the Govern^r³⁸³ will comande him any service. And the like shall they performe that come from Kicawtan³⁸⁴ ward, or from any place between this and that, to go upwarde, upon paine of forfaiting ten pound sterling a time to the Govern^r³⁸⁵. Provided, that if a servant having had instructions from his Master to observe this lawe,³⁸⁶ doe, notwithstanding, transgresse the same, that then the said³⁸⁷ servant shalbe punished at the Govern^r's discretion; otherwise, that the master himselfe shall undergo the foresaid penalty.

No man shall trade³⁸⁸ into the baye, either in shallop, pinnace, or ship, without the Govern^r's³⁸⁹ license, and without putting in security that neither himself nor his Company shall force or wrong the Indians, upon paine that, doing otherwise, they shalbe censured at their returne by the Govern^{or}³⁹⁰ and Counsell³⁹¹ of Estate.

All persons whatsoever upon the Sabaoth daye³⁹² shall frequente divine service and sermons both forenoon and afternoon, and all such as beare armes shall bring³⁹³ their pieces, swordes, poulder and shotte. And every one that shall transgresse this lawe shall forfait³⁹⁴ three shillings³⁹⁵ a time to the use of the church, all lawful and necessary impediments excepted. But if a servant in this case shall wilfully neglecte his M^r's comande he shall suffer bodily punishmente.

No maide or woman servant, either now resident in the Colonie or hereafter to come, shall contract herselfe in marriage without either the consente of her parents, or of her M^r or M^{ris}, or of the magistrat³⁹⁶ and minister of the place both together. And whatsoever minister shall marry or contracte any such persons without some of the foresaid consentes shalbe³⁹⁷ subjecte to the severe censure of the Govern^r³⁹⁸ and Counsell³⁹⁹ of Estate.

Be it enacted by this⁴⁰⁰ present assembly that whatsoever servant hath heretofore or shall hereafter contracte himselfe in England, either by way of Indenture or otherwise, to serve any Master here in Virginia and shall afterward, against⁴⁰¹ his said former contracte, depart from his M^r without leave, or, being once embarked, shall abandon the ship he is appointed to come in, and so, being lefte behinde, shall putt⁴⁰² himselfe into the service of any other man that will bring him hither, that then at the same servant's arrival here, he shall first serve out his time with that M^r that brought him hither and afterward also shall serve out his time⁴⁰³ with his former M^r according to his covenant.

Here ende the lawes.

All these lawes being thus concluded and consented to as aforefaide⁴⁰⁴ Captaine Henry Spellman⁴⁰⁵ was called to the barre to anfwere to certaine misdemeanors^{rs} layde to his chardge by Robert Poole, interpretour, upon his oath (whose examination the Govern^r sente into England in the Prosperus), of w^{ch} accusations of Poole some he acknowledged for true, but the greatest⁴⁰⁶ part he denyed. Whereupon the General⁴⁰⁷ Asssembly, having throughly heard and considered his speaches, did constitute this order following against him:

AUG. 4th, 1619.

This day Captaine Henry Spelman⁴⁰⁸ was convented before the General Asssembly and was examined by a relation upon oath of one Robert Poole, Interpreter, what conference had passed between the said Spelman⁴⁰⁹ and Opochancano at Poole's meeting with him in Opochancano's courte. Poole chardgeth him he spake very unreverently and maliciously against⁴¹⁰ this present Govern^r,⁴¹¹ wherby the honour and dignity of his place and person, and so of the whole Colonie, might be brought into contempte, by w^{ch} meanes what mischiefs might ensue from the Indians by disturbance of the peace or otherwise, may easily be conjectured. Some thinges of this relation Spelman confessed, but the most parte he denyed, excepte onely one matter of importance, & that was that he hade informed Opochancano that wthin a yeare there would come a Govern^r ⁴¹²greater. then⁴¹³ this that nowe is in place. By w^{ch} and by other reportes it seemeth he hath alienated the minde of Opochancano from this present Governour, and brought him in much disesteem, both wth Opochancano⁴¹⁴ and the Indians, and the whole Colony in danger of their slippery designs.

The general asssembly upon Poole's testimony onely not willing to putt Spelman to the rigour and extremity of the lawe, w^{ch} might, perhaps both speedily and deservedly, have taken his life from him (upon the witnes⁴¹⁵ of one whom he muche excepted against) were pleased, for the present, to censure him rather out of that his confession above written. then⁴¹⁶ out of any other prooffe. Several and sharpe punishments were pronounced against⁴¹⁷ him by diverse of the Asssembly, But in fine the whole course⁴¹⁸ by voices united did encline to the most favourable, w^{ch} was that for this misdemeanour⁴¹⁹ he should first be degraded of his title of Captaine,⁴²⁰ at the head of the troupe, and should be condemned to performe seven yeares service to the Colony in the nature of Interpreter to the Governour.

This sentence being read to Spelman he, as one that had in him more of the Savage then of the Christian, muttered certaine wordes to himselfe neither shewing any remorse for his offences, nor yet any thankfulness to the Assembly for their so favourable censure, w^{ch} he at one time or another (God's grace not wholly abandoning him) might wth some one service have been able to have redeemed.*

This day also did the Inhabitants of Paspaheigh, alias Argall's towne, present a petition to the general assembly to give them an absolute discharge from certaine bondes wherein they stand bound to Captain Samuell Argall for the paym^t of 600^G,⁴²¹ and to Captain William Powell, at Captaine Argall's appointment, for the paym^t of 50^G⁴²² more. To Captaine Argall for 15 fcore acres of wooddy ground, called by the name of Argal's⁴²³ towne or Paspaheigh; to Captaine Powell in respect of his paines in clearing the grounde and building the houses, for w^{ch} Captaine⁴²⁴ Argal ought to have given him satisfaction. Nowe,⁴²⁵ the general assembly being doubtful whether they have any power and authority to discharge the said bondes, doe by these presents⁴²⁶ (at the Instance of the said Inhabitants⁴²⁷ of Paspaheighs, alias Martin's hundred people) become most humble suitours to the Trefurer, Counsell and Company in England that they wilbe⁴²⁸ pleased to gett the said bondes for 600^G⁴²⁹ to be cancelled; forasmuche as in their great comission they have expressly and by name appointed that place of Paspaheigh for parte of the Governo^r's⁴³⁰ lande. And wheras Captain⁴³¹ William Powell is payde⁴³² his 50^G w^{ch} Captaine⁴³³ Argall enjoined the faide Inhabitantes to presente him with, as parte⁴³⁴ of the bargaine, the general assembly, at their intreaty, do become suitours on their behalfe, that Captaine Argall, by the Counsell & Company in England, may be compelled either to restore the said 50^G⁴³⁵ from thence, or else that restitution therof be made here out of the goods of the said Captaine Argall.

The last acte of the Generall Assembly was a contribution to gratifie their officers, as followeth:†

AUG. 4th, 1619.

It is fully agreed at this generall⁴³⁶ Assembly that in regarde of the great⁴³⁷ paines and labour of the⁴³⁸ Speaker of this Assembly (who not onely⁴³⁹ first formed the same Assembly and to their great ease & expedition reduced all matters to be treated of into a ready method, but also his indisposition notwthstanding wrote or dictated all orders and other expedients and is yet⁴⁴⁰ to write severall bookes for all the Generall⁴⁴¹ Incorporations and plantations both of the great charter, and of all the lawes) and likewise in respecte of the dilligence of the Clerke and sergeant, officers thereto belonging. That every man and manservant of above 16 yeares of age shall pay into the handes and Custody of the Burgeses of every Incorporation and plantation one pound of the best Tobacco, to be distributed to the Speaker and likewise to the Clerke and sergeant of the Assembly, according to their degrees and rankes, the whole bulke whereof to be delivered into the Speaker's handes, to be divided accordingly. And in regarde⁴⁴² the Provost Marshall of James citty hath also given some attendance upon the said Generall Assembly, he is also to have a share out of the same. And this is to begin to be gathered the 24th of February nexte.

In conclusion, the whole Assembly comaunded⁴⁴³ the Speaker (as nowe he doth) to present their humble excuse to the Treasurer⁴⁴⁴ Counsell & Company in England for being constrained by the intemperature of the weather and the falling sick of diverse of the Burgeses to breake up so abruptly—before they had so much as putt their lawes to the ingrossing. This they wholly comited to⁴⁴⁵ the fidelity of their speaker, who therein⁴⁴⁶ (his conscience telles him) hath done the parte⁴⁴⁷ of an honest man, otherwise he would be easily founde⁴⁴⁸ out by the Burgeses themselves, who wth all expedition are to have so many bookes of the same lawes as there be both Incorporations and Plantations in the Colony.

In the seconde place, the Assembly doth most humbly crave pardon that in so shorte⁴⁴⁹ a space they could bring their matter to no⁴⁵⁰ more perfection, being for the present enforced to sende home titles rather then lawes, Propositions rather then resolutions, Attemptes then Acchievements, hoping their courtesy will accepte our poore indeavour, and their wisedome wilbe⁴⁵¹ ready to supporte the weaknes of this little flocke.

Thirdly, the General Assembly doth humbly beseech⁴⁵² the said Treasurer,⁴⁵³ Counsell & Company, that albeit it belongeth to them onely to allowe or to abrogate any lawes w^{ch} we shall here make,⁴⁵⁴ and that it is their right so to doe,⁴⁵⁵ yet that it would please them not to take it in ill parte if these lawes w^{ch} we have nowe brought to light, do passe currant⁴⁵⁶ & be of force till suche time as we⁴⁵⁷ may knowe their farther pleasure out of Englande: for otherwise this people (who nowe at length have gotte⁴⁵⁸ the raines⁴⁵⁹ of former servitude into their owne swindge) would in shorte time growe so insolent, as they would shake off all government, and there would be no living among them.

Their last humble suite is,⁴⁶⁰ that the said Counsell & Company would be pleased, so soon as they shall finde⁴⁶¹ it convenient, to make

In fume Sir George Yeardley, the Governo^r ⁴⁶⁷ prorogued the faid General⁴⁶⁸ Assembly till the firste of Marche, which is to fall out this present yeare of 1619, and in the mean season dissolved the same.

LISTS

LIVINGE & THE DEAD IN VIRGINIA

February 16, 1623.

IV.

EDITORS' NOTE.

The paper from which this document is printed is to be found in the first volume of the McDonald papers. It is such a census of the inhabitants of the colony as the historical student would like to see made out at several other periods of our colonial history. We can find no legal enactment requiring such a census to be taken, and no order to that effect, save in the Instructions to Governor Wyatt, dated 24th July, 1621, where, among other things, he is directed "To make a catalogue of the people in every plantation, and their conditions; and of deaths, marriages and christenings."—Hening, Vol. I., p. 115.

The entries are as brief as possible, no middle names are given, and foreigners are entered according to nationality, or not more than one name allowed them. Not the least curious is the small number of negroes. Rolfe states, "About the last of August (1619) came in a Dutch man of warre that sold us twenty Negors" (Stith, p. 126), and nearly five years after, when this census was taken, there were but twenty-two in the Colony.

* The Colledge Land.—In “1619 Sir Edwin Sandys moved and obtained that ten thousand acres of land should be laid off for the University at Henrico, a place formerly resolved on for that purpose. This was intended as well for the colledge for the education of the Indians as also to lay the foundation of a seminary of learning for the English.”—Stith, London ed., p. 163.

“On the northerly side of James river, from the falls down to Henrico, containing ten miles in length, are the public lands reserved and laid out, whereof ten thousand are for the University lands, three thousand are for the company’s lands, with other lands belonging to the College.”—MS. in the McDonald paper, entitled “Particulars of Land in Virginia,” which was made out in 1625 or ’6, the communication of the Governor in which he informs their lordships that he sends it, being dated May 17, 1626. McDonald papers, Vol. I., pp. 295–307.

At the first meeting of the Burgesses (1619) the College had no representative, but at the meeting held Oct. 16, 1629, the Burgesses “For the plantations at the Colledge were Leftn’t Thomas Osborne and Mathew Edlowe,” whose names are in the text. See Hening, Vol. I., p. 138.

* Neak of Land.—"There is another division of the country into necks of land, which are the boundaries of the Escheators, viz: the Northern Neck, between the Patowmeck and Rappahannock rivers.

"The neck between Rappahannock and York rivers, within which Pamunkey Neck is included.

"The neck between York and James rivers," &c.; &c.—Beverly, Book IV., chap. ii.

This list being made up at James city this neck might be the one nearest to that place, and therefore the last one named by Beverly would be the one referred to; but inasmuch as in this ms. list it follows immediately after the College land, and in the list of Burgesses for 1629, occupies the same position, it is not improbable that it refers to the peninsula opposite Henrico, known on all the maps of the State as Farrar's island, and which has been made an island in reality by the completion of the canal begun by the United States army during the late civil war and afterwards finished by the engineer department of the same, under the direction of Col. W. P. Craighill. Hening reports Serit Sharpe a Burgess for this place in 1629, and Serjeant William Sharp is named in the text as living there in 1626.

† West & Sherlow Hundred.—Sir Thomas Dale annexed to New Bermuda "many miles of champion and wood land ground in several hundreds, by the names of Nether Hundred, Shirley Hundred," &c.—Stith, p. 124-'5; Smith, General Historie, 1627, p. 111. Hening names Burgesses (1629) from Shirley Hundred island and Shirley Hundred maine, and among the latter is the name of John Harris, which appears in the text.—Hening Vol. I., p. 138.

The name of Shirley appears on the Fry and Jefferson map only at the place where the same is now

* Chaplain's Choise.—This place and Jordan's Journey were represented in 1629, by Walter Price, according to Hening, and with only a fair allowance for the orthographical inaccuracies of the time and of different copyists, it is not impossible that the Walter Priest of the text is the same person. I can find no clue to its location, but it is reasonable to suppose it was near Jordan's Point.

† James Citie.—This birthplace of our State, eighty miles below Richmond, is now the property of a gentleman of New York city, who has the ground cultivated. During the war the soil was thrown up into fortifications, and pieces of armor, sword hilts, calthorps, gold, silver and copper coins were found. All that remains of the city is a portion of the brick tower which belonged to the church, and which attracts the attention of travellers on the river with an interest similar to that of Mount Vernon on the Potomac. Though visited by very few persons, yet the relic-hunters have removed all of the tombstones, and have attacked what remains of the church tower.

* Martin's Hundred.—Martin's Hundred is located on Fry and Jefferson's map between Hog island and Mulberry island, and on a small stream called Skies creek, on the north side of James river. In the proceedings of the Assembly in 1619 it is referred to as Paspapeigh's, alias Martin's Hundred, see ante p. 30. In the "Particulars of Land in Virginia," before mentioned, we read, "Martin's Hundred, containing 80,000 acres, part planted." Captaine Martin was made president by Capt. John Smith in 1609, but he did not desire the position and resigned. At the Assembly in 1619, he and the privileges named in his patent, and certain charges against him of unfair dealing with the Indians occupied no little attention.—See ante, pp. 12 and 13. For further particulars in regard to his attempts at imposition on the Company and like charges, the reader is referred to Stith, pp. 219, 220, 221.

† Warwick Scurake.—It is difficult to decide upon either the spelling or the pronunciation of this word. On Smith's map it is located on the south side of James river, and about fifteen or twenty miles below Jamestown, and is spelt Waraskorack, and on page 59 he spells it Waraskoyack; Fry and Jefferson locate it on Burwell's bay, and call it Warnicqueack. Stith calls it Warrasqueake, and gives an interesting account of "the King of that town," and his hospitable treatment of Capt. Smith on the night of the 29th of December, 1608: p. 85. In the "Particulars of Land," McDonald ms. above referred to, it is spelt as shown in the following extract: "Warofquoiacke Plantation conteyning downewardes from Hogg island, 14 miles by the ryver side," &c., &c., p. 313.

Hening has it Warrosquoiack, Vol. I., p. 149. In 1634 "the country divided into eight shires," and this being one of them. Hening there spells it Warrosquyoake. Vol. I., p. 224.

* Elizabeth Cittie.—The settlement which was the foundation of the county still known by the same name. It includes the peninsula formed by the Chesapeake bay and James river. At the meeting of the Burgesses in 1629 it was represented as two districts or burroughs, viz: the upper parte and the lower parte, each having three delegates, and the text shows that of these Thomas Willobouy of the upper and Adam Thoroughgood of the lower part were living there in 1626.

FINIS.

EDITOR'S NOTE.

The reader will perceive that the foregoing list of the dead reports only those who had died "since April last" (1622), consequently does not include the victims of the Indian massacre, which occurred on the 22d of March of that year. The number which fell by that diabolical conspiracy, as reported by Smith, amounted to 347, and in his Generall Historie, at page 149, he has a list of the numbers murdered at different places. Neil copies from the Records of the Virginia Company (now in the Congressional Library at Washington) a list of their names—see his "History of the Virginia Company," pp. 339–346—and considering that it is proper to annex this to the list preceding we herewith give it. The total corresponds with the statement in Smith's Historie.

The number of deaths in the census list shows a mortality amounting in one year to upwards of twenty per cent. of the whole population, exceeding the number which fell in the massacre by twenty-four. The fullest details of this and many other matters relating to the Colony while under the Virginia Company, can be found more fully shown in Neil's History of the Virginia Company than in any other work we have seen.

"Here following is fet downe a true list of the names of all those that were maffacred by the treachery of the Sauages in Virginia, the 22nd March last.

"To the end that their lawfull heyres may take speedy order for the inheritinge of their lands and estates there. For which the honourable Company of Virginia are ready to do them all right and fauour:"

Declaration"; torturing and starving to death being the punishments for minor offences; and asserting their confidence in the truth of these statements by concluding it with these words: "And rather to be reduced to live under the like government we desire his Ma^{ties} commissioners may be sent over wth authoritie to hange us." This is signed by thirty members of the General Assembly, including among the names, those of George Sandys, the poet, traveller and Secretary of the Colony, and Raph Hamor, the chronicler.—See Neill, pp. 407–411.

There is another reference to this starving time (as it is called) and its accompanying horror, which should not be allowed to pass without notice. As above stated, the worst state of affairs was reported to have existed in 1609, and in the next year a pamphlet with the following title was issued, "A true declaration of the estate of the Colonie of Virginia, with a refutation of such scandalous reports as haue tended to the disgrace of so worthy an enterprise. Published by aduise and direction of the Councell of Virginia. London, 1610." The writer of which, after referring to the slanders which had been circulated in regard to Sir Thos. Smith's government, and especially of the story of the wife-eater, says, "Sir Thomas Gates thus relateth the tragedie," and then follows a long passage to the effect that "one of the companie mortally hated his wife," and having killed her and secreted her body after cutting it into peices; when it was found out he said she died and he had hid her to satisfie his hunger, and had fed daily upon her, but upon searching his house they found a large quantity of provisions.—See Forcer tracts, Vol. III. The writers of the "Brief Declaration," and the "True Declaration," must have seen this statement published ten or twelve years before they wrote, and it is a little remarkable that they should have persisted in repeating a story which was far from being well authentitcated, especially as the true statement did not need this addition to increase the odium incurred by the mismanagement of Sir Thos. Smith, the evidences of which are herein set forth.

Stith reports the stories of the Indian "that had been slain and buried" being taken up and eaten, and "so did several others, one another that died," and also that of the man who "killed his wife and powdered her up, and eat the greater portion before it was discovered;" and adds, for many years after it was "remembered by the name of the starving time," p. 116–117. For many particulars nowhere else given, see Neill's History, pp. 407–411.

Volume 3, No. 21, I.

A BREIFE DECLARATION of the Plantation of Virginia duringe the first Twelve Yeares; when Sir Thomas Smith was Governor of the Companie, & downe to this present tyme: By the Ancient Planters nowe remaining alive in Virginia.

WHERAS in the beginnunge of Sir Thomas Smith's twelve yeares government, it was published in printe throughout the Kingdome of Englande that a Plantation should be fettled in Virginia for the glorie of God in the propogation of the Gospell of Christ, the conversion of the Savages, to the honour of his Majesty, by the enlargeinge of his territories and future enrichinge of his kingdome, for which respects many noble & well minded persons were induced to adventure great sums of money to the advancement of soe pious & noble a worke, who have from the very first been frustrate of their expectation, as wee conceive, by the misgovernment of Sir Thomas Smith, aiminge at nothings more then a perticular gaine, to be raised out of the labours of such as both voluntarilie adventured themselves and were otherwise sent over at the common charge. This will cleerely appeare in the examination of the first expedition & severall supplies in the tyme of his government.

The first Plantation in Virginia consisted of one hundred persons, so slenderly provided for that before they had remained halfe a yeare in this new Collony they fell into extreame want, not havinge anything left to sustein them save a little ill conditioned Barley, which ground to meal & pottage made thereof, one smale ladle full was allowed each person for a meale, without bread or aught else whatsoever, so that had not God, by his great providence, moved the Indians, then our utter enemies, to bringe us reliefe, we had all utterlie by famine perished. How unable so small a companye of people, soe poorely sent over, were to make way for such as shoulde followe, may easily be judged.

The first supplie beinge two shippes, the John & Francis & Phenix, with one hundred & twenty persons, worse every way provided for then the former, arrived heere about eight or nine months after & found the Collony consistinge of no more then forty persons (of those) tenn only able men, the rest at point of death, all utterly destitute of howses, not one as yet built, so that they lodged in cabbins & holes within the ground; victualls they had none, save some small reliefe from the Indians, as some yet living weare feelinge witnesses, neither were we for our future and better maintenance permitted to manure or till any ground, a thing in a new Plantation principally to be regarded, but weare by the direction of Sir Thomas Smith, and his officers heere, wholly imployed in cuttinge downe of mafts, cedar, blacke wallnutt, clapboarde, &c., and in digginge Gould oare (as some thought) which beinge sent for England proved dirt. These works to make retorne of present profit hindered others of more necessary consequence of Plantation.

After this first supplie there were some few poore howses built, & entrance made in cleeringe of ground to the quantitie of foure acres for the wholl Collony, hunger & sickness not permitting any great matters to bee donne that yeare.

The second supplie was a ship called the Mary Margett, which arrived here nine months after, about the time of Michaellmas, in her sixty persons, most gentlemen, few or no tradesmen, except some Polanders to make Pitch, tarre, potashes, &c., to be returned for present gaine, for meanly likewise were these furnished forth for victualles, that in lesse then two monthes after their arrivall, want compelled us to imploye our time abroad in trading with the Indians for corne; whereby though for a time we partly relieved our necessities, yet in Maye followinge we weare forced (leavinge a small garde of gentlemen & some others about the president at James Towne) to disperse the wholl Collony, some amongst the Salvages but most to the Oyster Banks, where they lived uppon oysters for the space of nine weekes, with the allowance only of a pinte of Indian corne to each man for a week, & that allowance of corne continued to them but two weekes of the nine, which kinde of feeding caused all our skinns to peelee off, from head to foote, as if we had beene flead. By this time arrived Captaine Samuel Argall in a small Barque, with him neither supplie of men nor victualls from the Company; but we understandinge that he had some small provisions of bread and wine, more then would serve his owne companie, required him and the master of the Barque to remaine ashore whilst we might bring his sailes ashore the better to assure us of his ship & such provisions as coulde be spared, whereunto he seemed willingly to condescend. Those provisions, at a small allowance of Biskett, cake, and a small measure of wine or beere to each person for a Daye some what relieved us for the space of a month, at the end of which time arrived the thirde supplie, called Sir Thomas Gates, his fleet, which consisted of seven shippes & neere five hundred persons with whom a small proportion of victuall, for such a number, was landed; howses few or none to entertain them, so that being quartered in the open feilde they fell uppon that small quantitie of corne, not beinge above seven acres, which we with great penury & sufferance had formerly planted, and in three days, at the most, wholly devoured it.

These numbers, thus meanly provided, not being able to subsist and live together weare soone after divided into three parties and dispersed abroad for their better reliefe. The first under commande of Captaine Francis West to seat at the head of the River; a second under commande of Captaine John Smith, then President, at James Towne, & the other, with Capt. John Martin, in the River at Nanfamun, which divisions gave occasions to the Indians treacherously to cutt off divers of our men & boates, and forced the rest at the end of fixe weekes, havinge spent those small provisions they had with them, to retire to James Town & that in the depth of winter, when by reason of the colde, it was not possible for us to endure to wade in the water (as formerly) to gather oysters to satisfie our hungry stomacks, but constrained to digge in the grounde for unwholesome rootes whereof we were not able to get so many as would suffice us, in respect of the frost at that season & our poverty & weakness, so that famine compelled us wholly to devoure those Hogges, Dogges & horses that weare then in the Collony, together with rates, mice, snakes, or what vermin or carryon foever we could light on, as alsoe Toad-stooles, Jewes eares, or what els we founde growing upon the grounde that would fill either mouth or belly; and weare driven through unsufferable hunger unnaturallie to eat those thinges which nature most abhorred, the flesh and excrements of man, as well of our owne nation as of an Indian, digged by some out of his grave after he had laien buried three daies & wholly devoured him; others, envyinge the better state of bodie of any whom hunger had not yet so much wasted as there owne, lay waight and threatened to kill and eat them; one amonge the rest slue his wife as she slept in his bosome, cutt her in peeces, powdered her & fedd uppon her till he had clean devoured all partes saveinge her heade, & was for soe barbarouse a fact and cruelty justly executed. Some adventuringe to seeke releife in the woods, dyed as they fought it, & weare eaten by others who found them dead. Many putt themselves into the Indians' handes, though our enemies, and were by them slaine. In this extremitye of famine continued the Collony till the twentieth of Maye, when unexpected, yet happely, arrived Sir Thomas Gates & Sir George Somers in two small Barques* which they had built in the Sommer Islands after the wreake of the Sea adventure wherin they fett forth from Englande, with them one hundred persons barely provided of vittell for themselves. They founde the Collony consistinge then of but fixty persons most famished and at point of death, of whom many soone after died; the lamentable outcries of theirs soe moved the hartes of those worthies, not being in any forte able long to releive their wantes they soone resolved to imbarque themselves & this poore remainder of the Collonye, in those two pinnaces & two other small Barques then in the River, to fett faile for Newfoundland where they might releive their wants & procure one safer passage for Englande. Every man, glad of this resolution, laboured his uttmost to further it,

* "The Deliverance, of 70 tonn, and the Patience, of 30 tonn." Letter from the Lord Delaware, Governor of Virginia to the patentees in England.—Introduction to Strachey's Virginia Britannia, p. xxiii, so that in three weekes we had fitted those barques and pinnaces (the best we could) & quitted James Towne, leaving the poore buildings in it to the spoile of the Indians, hopeinge never to retorne to re-possess them. When we had not failed downe the River above twelve miles but we espied a boat which afterwards we understoode came from the right Honourable Lorde La Ware, who was then arived at Point Comfort with three good shipps, wherein he brought two hundred and fifty persons with some store of Provisions for them; but by reason he founde the Collony in so great want was forced to put both his owne people & the rest of the Collony to a very meane allowance, which was seven pounce of English meale for a man a weeke, & five pounds for every woman, without the addition of any victuall whatsoever, except, in the stead of meale, we took valuablie either pease or oatmeale. Uppon the arrival of that boat, Sir Thomas Gates understandinge from the Lord La Ware, that his Lordship was arrived with commissiion from the Company to be Gov^r & Capt. Gen^l of Virginia, & had brought men & provisions for the subsistinge & advancing of the Plantation, he the very next daye, to the great grieve of all his Company (only except Capt. John Martin), as winde and weather gave leave, retorne his whole company with charge to take possession againe of those poore ruined habitations at James Towne which he had formerly abandoned; himselfe in a boate proceeded downeward to meete his Lordship who, making all speede up, arrived shortly after at James Towne. The time of the yeare being then most unseasonable, by intemperate heat, at the end of June his people suddenly fallinge generally into most pestilent diseases of Callentures and seavors, not lesse then one hundred & fifty of them died within few moneths after, & that chiefly for want of meanes to comfort them in their weak estates. The residue alsoe disabled by reason of sicknes could performe nothing that yeare to the advancement of the Collony, yet with the help of those people which had arrived with Sir Thomas Gates, together with some of the ancient Planters, who by use weare growen practique in a hard way of livinge, two small forts weare erected neare the rivers mouth at Kicoughtun, encompassed with small younge trees, haveinge for housing in the one, two formerlie built by the Indians & covered with bark by them, in the other a tent with some few thatcht cabbins which our people built at our comming thether. We founde divers other Indian Howses built by the natives which by reason we could make no use of we burnt, killinge to the number of twelve or fourteene Indians, & possessinge such corne as we founde growinge of their plantinge. We remained there untill harvest, when we reaped (besides what we spent) about the quantitie of one hundred and fiftie bushells of corne, which, by order from the Lord La Ware, was transported to James Towne.

His Lordship intendinge to send up certain forces to march towards the mountaines for the discoverie of gold or silver mines at the end of October, sent his Patents to Captaine Yardley and Captaine Holcroft, commanders of those two forts at Kicoughtan, wherein his Lordship gave order that they should be forthwith abandoned & the people with all speede to be brought to James Citie, there to prepare for his intended march.

At that time there arrived a small ship called the daintie, with twelve men & one woman, some little provision of victuall, two or three horses & some other slight necessaries for the Collony. Soon after we sett forward for our intended march, havinge for our leaders Captaine Edwarde Brewster & Captaine George Yeardley, being in number one hundred persons, furnished with all such necessary provisions, as the Collony at that time out of its poverty was able to provide. This designe was hindered by reason of the unfortunate losse of all our chieffe men skillfull in findeinge out mines, who weare treacherously slaine by the Salvadges (inviteinge them ashore to eat victualls which they wanted) even when the meate was in their mouthes, they careinge only to fill their bellies, foresaw not to prevent this danger which befell them.

This injury we revenged for the present (as we coulde) by killinge some Indians and burninge many houses, but by reason of this disaster we proceeded not farther on our journey then the head of the River, where we spent about three moneths doinge little but induringe much; his Lordship was there in person for the most part of that time, but his disease of body groweing much upon him he resolved to retire to James Towne, givinge order that the fort which we had built there shoulde bee quitted and the troupe drawn downe, which accordingly was done. His Lordship then in regarde of his sickness was advised to putt to Sea in his ship, the Delaware, to seeke remedie in some other parts for the health of his bodye. At his going he left Captaine George Percie Deputie Governor, the people (remaining under his command) provided for three months at a sbort allowance of victuals. The calamities of these times would not any way permit workes of great importance to bee performed, fith that we did was as much as we coulde doe to live and defende our selves.

The Plantations helde at his Lordships departure were only James Towne and Pointe Comforte, where was a small Fort fenced with Palli-fadoes, in it one slight howse, a store and some few thatcht cabbins, which shortly after by casualtie was burnt with fire; some few great ordinance were slenderlye mounted at James Towne and Pointe Comfort.

A fortnight after his Lordship's departure arrived a small ship called the Hercules, with some thirty people and some provisions for them. The twelfe of May followeing arrived Sir Thomas Dale with three ships and three hundred persons, his provisions for them of such qualitie (for the most part) as hogges refused to eat, some whereof were sent backe to England to testifie the same, and that the rest was not better was justified upon oath before the Hon^{ble} the Lorde Cheife Justice of the Common Pleas, at Guilde hall in London, by Sir Thos. Gates & two other gentlemen.

Sir Thomas Dale, takinge into confideration the precedent times not to have fucceeded accordinge to the greedy defire of Sir Thomas Smith, prefently imployed the general Colony about the lading of thofe three fhips with fuch freight as the country then yealded, but a little before the fhips were readie to depart, Sir Thomas Gates arrived with three fhips and three carvills, with him three hundred perfons meanly provided with victualls for fuch a number. In this fleet, to our remembrance, arrived fixtie cowes and fome fwine; it was his care to difpatch thofe fhipps and carvills fraighted (as aforefaid) to the neglect of workes of greater importance. Sir Thomas Dale imediately uppon his arrival, to add to that extremitye of miferye under which the Collonye from her infancie groaned, made and publifhed moft cruell and tiranous lawes, exceeding the ftricteft rules of marifhall difcipline, which lawes were fent over by Sir Thomas Dale to Sir Thomas Smith by the hande of Mr. William Strachey,* then Secretarie to the State, and were retorned in print, with approbation, for our future government, as in divers bookes yet extant more fully appeareth.

At Michaellmas then next followinge, Sir Thomas Dale removed himfelf with three hundred perfons for the buildinge of Henrico Towne, where being landed he oppreffed his whole companye with fuch extraordinarye labors by daye and watchinge by night, as maye seeme incredible to the eares of any who had not the experimentall triall thereof. Wante of houfes at firft landinge in the colde of winter, and pinching hunger continually bitinge, made thofe impofed labours moft infufferable, and the beft fruits and effects therof to be noe better then the flaughter of his Majesty's free fubjects by ftarveinge, hangeinge, burneinge, breakinge upon the wheele and fhootinge to deathe, fome (more than halfe famifhed) runninge to the Indians to gett reliefe beinge againe retorned were burnt to death. Some for ftealinge to fatisfie their hunger were hanged, and one chained to a tree till he ftarved to death; others attemptinge to run awaye in a barge and a fhallow (all the Boates that were then in the Collonye) and therin to adventure their lives for their native countrie, beinge difcovered and prevented, were fhott to death, hanged and broken upon the wheele, befides continuall whippings, extraordinarye punifhments, workinge as flaves in irons for terme of yeares (and that for petty offences) weare dayly executed. Many famifhed in holes and other poore cabbins in the ground, not refpected becaufe ficknes had difabled them for labour, nor was their fufficient for them that were more able to worke, our beft allowance beinge but nine ounces of corrupt and putrified meale and halfe a pinte.

* Mr. Strachey, sailed with Lord Delaware on the 1st of April, 1610, and arrived at the Capes on the 15th of May. He remained about two years. He left a well written manuscript account of his observations, with this title: "The Historie of travaile into Virginia Brittania, * * * gathered and discovered as well by thofe who went firft hither, as collected by William Strachey, Gent., the firft secretary of the Colony;" which, edited by R. A. Major, Esq., of the British Museum, was published by the Hakluyt society in 1849.

our people slaine, whose blood Sir Thomas Dale neglected not to revenge, by divers and fundry executions, in killinge many, cuttinge downe and takinge away their corne, burninge their houses, spoiling their weares, &c.*

In this time alsoe the two fortes, fort Henry and fort Charles, at Kicoughton, were againe erected with such buildings as were formerly expresse, not fortified at all against a forreine enemye, and against the Indian that common order of a pale or pallisadoe.

The supplies sent out of Englande while Sir Thos. Gates and Sir Thos. Dale governed were these; a small barque called the John and Francis, which brought few men and les victual; the next a small ship called the Sarah, with the like number of men and victuall; the next ship called the Treforer, wherein came Capt. Samuell Argoll, bringinge with him to the number of fiftie good men, which ship and men were wholly imployed in Trade and other services for relevinge of the Colonye; the next ship, called the Elizabeth, with about thirteene persons, for them little provision; the next the same Elizabeth came againe, with some small store of provisions only; in her Sir Thos. Gates went for Englande, leavinge the government with Sir Thomas Dale.

A little before the departure of Sir Thomas Gates many of the ancient planters (by the instigation of Sir Thomas Dale), upon the promise of an absolute freedome after three yeares more to be expired (havige most of them already served the Collonye six or seaven yeares in that generall slavery) were yet contented to worke in the buildinge of Charles Citty and Hundred, with very little allowance of clothinge and victuall, and that only for the first yeare, being promised one moneth in the yeare, and one daye in the weeke from Maye daye till harvest, to gett our maintenance out of the earth without any further helpe; which promise of Sir Thos. Dale was not performed, for out of that small time which was allowed for our maintenance we were abridged of nere halfe, soe that out of our daily taskes we were forced to redeeme time wherein to labour for our sustenance, therby miserably to purchase our freedome. Yet so fell it out that our State (by God's mercy) was afterwarde more happie then others who continued longer in the aforementioned slaverye; in which time we built such houses as before and in them lived with continual repairs, and buildinge new where the old failed, untill the massacre.

For matter of fortification in all this time, were only foure peeces of ordinance mounted for our defence against the natives. Soone after we were seated at Charles Hundred, Sir Thomas Dales resolved of a journey to Pamonkey River, there to make with the Salvages either a firme league of friendship or a present warre; they percieving his intent inclined rather for peace (more for feare then love) which was then concluded betwixt them. That donne we returned to our habitations, where great want and scarcitie, oppressed us, that continuinge and increasinge, (our first harvest not yet being ripe) caused in many an intended mutinye, which beinge, by God's mercy, discovered, the prime actors were duly examined and convicted, wherof fixe beinge adjudged and condemned were executed.

After this, arrived for supply a small ship called the John and Francis, with about twenty persons and little or noe provisions for them. The next ship, called the Tresorer, arived heere with the number of twenty persons and as little provisions as the former, in which ship after many other designs were effected by Sir Thos. Dale, as makinge spoile of the Keschacks* and Wariscoyacks, impalinge some necks of Lande, for defence against the Salvages, and in fishing for our reliefe, &c., he departed from Virginia, and left the Government to Captain George Yardley, under whom the Collony lived in peace and best plentye that ever it had till that time, yet most part of the people for that yeare of his Government continued in the generall services followinge their labors as Sir Thos. Dale left them by order.

At Michaelmas followinge arrived a small ship called the Sufan, her lading (beinge the first Magazin) consistinge of some necessarye provisions of clothinge, as our wants required, which goods were sold by Sir Thos. Smith's factor, as we suppose, for a sufficient profit, exchanginge with us their commodities for our Tobacco.

At Christmas then followinge, just occasion beinge given by the Indians of Chiquohomini in many and severall kindes of abuses, and in deridinge of our demandes, wherunto they had formerly agreed and conditioned with Sir Thomas Dale to paye us yearlye tribute, viz: a bushell of corne for every Boweman, for which, by agreement, we were to give to each man one peece of copper and one iron tomahawke, and to the eight chiefe men each a fuit of redd cloth, which clothes and truckinge stuffe we esteemed of more worth then their corne. These and the like grosse abuses moved our Governor, Captaine George Yeardeley, to levye a company of men, to the number of eighty-four, to bee revenged uppon those contemptuous Indians, which he, accordinge to his desire, fully executed, and returned home with the spoile of them; concludinge, before his departure from them, a more firme league in appearance than formerly was, for that it continued unviolated almost the space of two yeares; our people freely travelinge from Town to Towne (both men, women and children) without any armes, and were by the Salvages lodged in their houses, every way kindly intreated and noe way molested.

In March followinge, our three yeares' time beinge expired, as it was our due, we of Charles Hundred demanded our long desired free-dome from that common and generall servitude; unto which request Captaine George Yeardley, freely and willingly assented, to our great joy and comfort. Yet remained the most part of the Collony in the former servitude; part of whom were farmers, the rest imployed in such workes as Sir Thomas Dale gave order for before his departure.

We that were freed, with our humble thanks to God, fell cheerfully to our perticular labours, wherby to our great comfort, through his blessinge, we reaped a plentiful harvest.

In May followinge arived Captain Samuell Argoll with commission to be Governor. He brought with him to the number of a hundred persons, partly at the charge of the Company and partly at the charge of private adventurers; with them was brought a very little provision for that nomber. At his arrival heere he founde the Collony in all parts well stored with corne, and at Charles Hundred a granery well furnished by rentes lately raised and received from the farmers, which corne he tooke possession of, but how it was imployed himselve can best give an account. Whilest he governed, the Collony was slenderly provided of munition, wherby a strict proclamation was made for restraint of wastinge or shooting away of powder, under paine of great punishment; which forbiddinge to shoot at all in our peeces caused the losse of much of oure corne then growinge uppon the ground; the Indians perceivinge our forbearance to shoote (as formerly) concluded thereuppon that our peeces were, as they saide, sicke and not to be used; uppon this, not longe after they were bould to presume to assault some of our people, whom they slew, therin breakinge that league, which before was so fairly kept.

Durings his time of Government most of the people of the Collony remained (as formerly) in the common service, their freedome not beinge to be obtained without extraordinary payement.

The next ship that arrived heere was the George, sett forth, as we suppose, at the charge of private adventurers, but came soe meanly provided with victuall, that had not we, the old Planters, relieved them most of them had been starved. The next ships, called the Neptune and Treasurer, arived in August followinge, set out at the charge of the Right Hon^{ble} the Lord Laware, his noble associates, and some other private adventurers. The people w^{ch} arived were soe poorely victualled that had they not been distributed amongst the old Planters they must for want have perished; with them was brought a most pestilent disease (called the Bloody flux) which infected all most all the whole Collonye. That disease, notwithstanding all our former afflictions, was never knowne before amongst us.

The next supply weare two ships called the William & Thomas and the Guift, which arived in Januarie; the Guift beinge sett forth at the charge of the Societie of Martin's Hundred, the other by the Magazin and some private adventurers.

The next, a small ship called the Elinor (sett forth at whose charge we know not), arived heere in Aprill after, and in her Capt. Samuell argoll, leaving his Government, shipt himselfe for Englande. Whatsoever els befell in the time of his Government we omit to relate, much beinge, uppon our oathes, alreadie sufficiently examined and our answers sent for Englande.

By all which hath heertofore beene faide concerninge this Collony, from the infancie therof and untill the expiration of Sir Thomas Smith's government, may easily be perceived and plainly understood what just cause he or any els have to boast of the flourishing estate of those times, wherein so great miseries and calamities were indured, and soe few workes of moment or importance performed, himselfe beinge justly to be charged as a prime author therof, by his neglect of providinge and alloweing better meanes to proceede in so great a worke, and in hindering very many of our frendes from sendinge much releife and meanes who beinge earnestly solicited from hence by our letters—wherin we lamentable complained unto them—have often besought Sir Thomas Smith that they might have leave to supplie us at their owne charge both with provision of victuall and all other necessaries, wherein he utterlie denied them so to doe, protestinge to them that we were in noe want at all, but that we exceeded in abundance and plentie of all things, so that therby our frendes were moved both to desist from sendinge and to doubt the truth of our letters, most part of which weare by him usually intercepted and kept backe; farther giveinge order by his directions to the Governor heere, that all men's letters should be searched at the goinge away of ships, and if in anye of them weare founde that the true estate of the Collony was declared, they were presented to the Governor and the indighters of them severely punished; by which meanes noe man durst make any true relation to his frendes of his owne or the Collony's true estate; neither was it permitted to anye to have passe to goe home, but by force were kept heere and employed as we have faide (save some few), one of whom received his passe from the Kinge, and that closely made up in a garter, least it should have been seized uppon and he kept heere notwithstandinge. Those whom their frendes procured their passe in open courte from the Companye were, by private direction, neverthelesse made staye of, others procuringe private letters having been lett goe.

We must alsoe noat heere, that Sir Thos. Dale, at his arivall finding himself deluded by the aforesaid protestations, pulled Capt. Newport by the beard, and threatninge to hange him, for that he affirmed Sir Thos. Smith's relation to be true, demandinge of him whether it weare meant that the people heere in Virginia shoulde feed uppon trees.

Soe may we heere conclude, as some have concluded for him, to what great growth of perfection (with the expence of that seaventie thousand poundes) the Plantation was advanced in the time of his 12 years' government, but whether, as it is faide, he be to be praised for the managaing of these affaires, with much unanimity, moderation, integritie and judgment, we leave it to censure.

At the end of this twelve yeares arived Sir George Yeardley to be Gov^r and founde the Collony in this estate and thus furnished, vizt: For fortification against a forreign ennemie there was none at all; two demy culverin only were mounted uppon rotten carriages and placed within James Citty, fitter to shoot downe our houses then to offend an ennemie. At Charles Hundred, which were mounted by Sir Thos. Dale, two demy culverin and one sacre; fortifications against a domestique enimie very mean. For Forts, Towns and Plantations he founde these: James Citty, Henrico, Charles Citty and Hundred, Shirley Hundred, Arrahattock, Martin Brandon and Kicoughton, all w^{ch} were but poorely housed and as ill fortified; for in James Cittie were only those houses that Sir Thom. Gates built in the time of his government, with one wherin the Gov^r allwayes dwelt, an addition beinge made therto in the time of Captaine Sam^l Argoll, and a church, built, wholly at the charge of the inhabitants of that cittie, of Timber, beinge fifty foote in length and twenty foot in breadth; at Paspahayes alsoe weare some few flight houses built; at Henrico, two or three old howses, a poore ruined church with some few poore buildings in the Island; Coxen Dale and the Maine and att Arrahattocke one house, at Charles Cittie fixe howses much decayed, and, that we may not be too tedious, as these, soe were the rest of the places furnisht.

For people then alive about the number of foure hundred, very many of them in want of corne, utterlie destitute of cattle, fwine, Poultry and other Provisions to nourish them.

For Barques, Pinnaces, Shallops, Barges and Boates he founde only one olde Frigott, which belonged to the Sommer Islandes, one olde Shallopp built in Sir Thos. Dale's time, one boat built in Sir Sam^l Argoll's time, with two small boates belonginge to private men. For munition a very small quantitye, the most part thereof beinge very bad and of little use. For ministers to instruct the people he founde only three authorized, two others who never received their orders.

For staple commodities at his arrivall he founde none afoot save only Tobacco. The natives he founde uppon doubtfull termes, neither did we ever perceive that at any time they voluntarilie yealded themselves subjects or servants to our Gracious Soveraigne, neither that ever they tooke any pride in that title, nor paide they at any time any yearly contribution of corne for the sustentation of the Collony, nor could we at any time keepe them in such goode respect or correspondencie that they and we did become mutuallie helpfull or proffitable, each to other, but to the contrary, whatsoever at any time was done uppon them proceeded from fear without love, for such help as we have had from them have been procured by sworde or trade. And heere can we noe way approve of that which hath lately beene saide in the behalfe of Sir Thos. Smith, by some of his new frendes, that a flourish-inge plantation in Virginia, erected in the time of his 12 yeares government, hath since been destroyed through the ignorance of succeeding Governors heere, for that by what we have already faide all the worlde may judge in what a flourishinge estate it was, and to what growth of perfection it was advanced, at the arrivall of Sir Geo. Yeardley to be Gov^r here, it beinge then in our judgements, that were members of the colony, in a poore estate.

The whole 12 yeares expired.

Aprill, 1619.—Arived Sir Geo. Yeardeley, bringing certain commissions and instructions from the Company for the better establishinge of a Commonwealth heere, wherein order was taken for the removing of all those grievances which formerly were suffered and manifested the same by publishinge a Proclamation that all those that were residend heere before the departure of Sir Thos. Dale should be freed and acquitted from such publique services and labours which formerly they suffered, and that those cruell lawes by which we had soe longe been governed were now abrogated, and that we were now to be governed by those free lawes which his Ma^{ty}'s subjects live under in Englande. And farther that free libertie was given to all men to make choice of their dividents of lande and, as their abilities and meanes w^d permitt, to possesse and plant uppon them. And that they might have a hande in the governinge of themselves, it was granted that a general assemblie should be helde yearly once, wherat were to be present the Gov^r and Counsell with two Burgeesses from each Plantation freely to be elected by the inhabitants thereof; this assembly to have power to make and ordaine whatsoever lawes and orders should by them be thought good and proffittable for our subsistence. The effect of which proceedinge gave such encouragement to every person heere that all of them followed their perticular labours with singular alacrity and industry, soe that, through the blessinge of God uppon our willinge labors, within the space of three yeares, our countrie flourished with many new erected Plantations, from the head of the River to Kicoughtan, beautifull and pleasant to the spectators, and comfortable for the releife and succor of all such as by occasion did travaile by land or by water; every man giveinge free entertainment, both to frendes or others. The plenty of these times likewise was such that all men generally were sufficiently furnished with corne, and many alsoe had plenty of cattle, swine, poultry and other good provisions to nourish them. Monethly courtes were held in every precinct to doe justice in redressing of all small and petty matters, others of more consequence beinge referred to the Gov^r, Counsell and Generall Assemblie. Now alsoe were begunne and fett a foote the erectinge of Iron Workes, plantinge of vines and mulberrie trees for the nourishinge of silke wormes; a trial made for silke graffe tillage for English graine, gardeninge, and the like, which gave great hopes of present and future plenty in their severall perticulars, wherin no doubt but much more had been effected had not great sicknesses and mortalitie prevented.

Those yeares fallinge out to be generally contagious through this continent, the people alsoe sent over arrived heere at the most unseasonable time of the yeare, beinge at the heat of Sommer, and divers of the ships brought with them most pestilent infections, wherof many of their people had died at Sea, soe that these times alsoe of plenty and libertie were mixed with the calamities of sickness and mortalitie.

In October, 1621, Arrived Sir Fras. Wyatt, Knight, with commission to be Gov^r and Capt. Gen^l of Virginia. He ratified and confirmed all the afore mentioned liberties, freedoms and priveledges, to our great happines and content; the country alsoe flourished and increased in her former proceedinges, as iron workes, plantinge of vines and mulberrie for filke, &c. A ship alsoe was sent to the Summer Islandes for such commodities as that place afforded, as Potatoes, Fig Trees, Orange and Lemon Trees, and such like, many of which prosper and growe very likely to increase. But amidst this happines was the Hande of God sett against us, in great part, no doubt, for the punishment of our ingratitude in not beinge thankfull but forgettfull that by his mercye we were delivered from such bondage and calamitie as before time we had suffered. Justly likewise were we punished for our greedy desires of present gaine and proffit, wherin many showed themselves insatiable and covetous; we beinge too secure in trustinge of a treacherous enimie, the Salvages, they, whilest we entertained them frendley in our houses, tooke their opportunities and suddenly fell upon us, killing and murdering very many of our people, burninge and devastinge their houses and plantations, this happeninge upon the two and twentieth of March followinge (1622), stroocke so at the life of our wellfare by blood and spoile, that it almost generally defaced the beautie of the wholl Collonye, puttinge us out of the way of bringinge to perfection those excellent workes wherin we had made soe faire a beginninge.

This deadly stroake being given to the great amazement and ruine of our State, caused our Governor and Counsell, withall speede, for the safetie of the rest (lest the Indians shoulde take courage to pursue what they had begunne), to re-collect the straglinge and woefull Inhabitants, soe dismembered, into stronger bodies and more secure places. This enforced reducement of the Collony into fewer bodies, together with the troble of warre then in hande, caused the year following a slender harvest to be reaped, wherby we weare constrained to relye upon hopes for our reliefe by shippinge out of Englande, and by trading with the more remote Salvages, most part of which supplies from Englande unfortunately miscarried by the waye, the Salvages, likewise, from whome we hoped to have helpes by trade, proved our most treacherous ennemies, cunninglye circumventinge and cruellie murderinge such as

PREFACE.

The three succeeding papers are printed from the De Jarnette collection. The first is a census in gross without any details of sex, age or social condition. In these respects it lacks the interest which one feels in the list made out in 1623.

In February, 1623, there were living in the Colony 1277 persons, and including 371 who had died during the preceding year, i. e. since April, 1622; it is evident that the greatest number of inhabitants during the year ending February 16, 1623—not including those murdered in the massacre—amounted to 1648; and in 1634, eleven years afterwards, they amounted to 5,119, being an increase of 3,471, or an average of about 315 per annum, by birth and immigration. Accustomed as we are to the rapid growth of new countries this seems but a small increase, but when it is remembered that they made the voyage in sailing vessels only, and that it then not unfrequently lasted three or four months, we have little cause for wonder.

The next paper is a copy of a letter from His Majesty Charles II., to the Governor, Sir Wm. Berkeley, returning his thanks for a present of silk grown in Virginia. The first settlers were very anxious for success in this department of industry, and the House of Burgesses in 1657-'8 passed a law offering a premium of 5,000 pounds of tobacco to any one who made "100 pounds of wound silke in any one year," and in the next session, 1658-'9, the premium was made 10,000 pounds of tobacco for 50 pounds of "wound silke." We have frequently heard repeated a tradition to the effect that Charles II. wore a robe made of Virginia silk at his coronation. The circumstance of which this document is evidence, is probably the nearest approach to any thing of the sort that ever occurred, and hereafter this with the foolish and groundless story of one of the Lees going to see him when an exile at Breda, to offer him a crown and a refuge in Virginia, must be consigned to that oblivion which is likely, soon, we hope, to receive many of the mythical legends which have heretofore passed current for the history of Virginia.

The third is a list of the parishes and their ministers in 1680, the number of the latter showing that the people were poorly provided for in this respect, and that some of the parishes had no ministers. This deficiency was, however, in a measure provided for by the appointment of "readers" under the operation of acts passed February 1632-'3, by which if a minister's curé "is so large that he cannot be present on the Saboth and other holy days. It is thought fit That they appoint deacons for the readinge of common prayer in their absence;" and further, in March, 1661-'2, it was enacted "That every parish not haveing a minister to officiate every Sunday doe make choice of a grave and sober person to read divine service at the Parish church."—Hen. Vol. I., p. 208; Vol. II., p. 46, 54.

ADDENDA.

The following additions to the text and notes are suggested as explanatory, without being considered superfluous.

Page 16.—“The sixte petition, to change the sauage name of Kicowtan,” was granted. In 1621, Treasurer Sandys in his report to the Company informed them that the name had been changed to Elizabeth Cittie.—Neill’s history, page 178.

Page 25.—The word “howes” inserted in connection with various kinds of dogs, is our modern word hoe; Smith has it hows on page 86, and howes on page 162.

Page 29.—Capt. Henry Spelman, was the third son of the distinguished antiquary, Sir Henry Spelman, of Conghan, Norfolk, England. He was about twenty-one years of age when he came to Virginia, in 1609, for which he accounts as follows: “Beinge in displeasuer of my frendes, and desirous to see other countryes. After three months’ sayle we cum with prosperous winds in sight of Virginia.” Afterwards he says, “I was carried by Capt. Smith, our President, to ye Fales, to ye litell Powhatan, wher, vnknowne to me he sould me to him for a towne called Powhatan.”—Spelman’s Relation, pp. 15, 16. Dr. Simons, in Smith’s General Historie, says: “Captain West and Captain Sickelmore sought abroad to trade; Sickelmore, upon the confidence of Powhatan, with about thirty other as careless as himselfe, were all slaine; onely Jeffrey Shortridge escaped, and Pokahontas, the King’s daughter, saued a boy called Henry Spelman, that liued many yeeres after, by her meanes, among the Patawmokes;” this occurred in 1609.—Smith, p. 105. He remained with the Indians but little more than one year, for in 1610 Capt. Argall being sent to the “riuer Patawmoke to trade for corne,” where finding him, used Spelman’s influence to secure the loading of his vessel with corn, and Spelman returned with him to Jamestown.—Smith, p. 108. Spelman adds, “and brought into England,” p. 221. We then lose sight of him until he is arraigned before the Assembly at Jamestown in 1619 (ante p. 29) He makes his final appearance in 1623, when we are told, he was sent with a bark and twenty-six men to “trucke in the River Pataw-mek,” where at some place, the name of which was to his companions unknown, he landed with twenty-one of his companions, when the savages made hostile demonstrations “and presently after they” (the five left in the bark) “heard a great brute amongst the Saluages ashore, and saw a man’s head thrown downe the banke, where-upon they weighed Anchor and returned home, but how he was surprised or slaine is vncertaine.”—Smith p. 161. Spelman wrote a short account of his observations while among the Indians, and it laid in obscurity until the sale of Dawson Turner’s library, in 1859, when it was bought by Mr. Joseph Lilly and, by accident, again lost; and at the sale of Mr. Lilly’s library, in 1871, it was again discovered and purchased for James F. Hunniwell, Esq., who has had one hundred copies printed for private circulation.

Spelman was not the only Englishman with the savages. In the same year that Spelman was sold for a town, or saved by Pocahontas—whichever version being correct—Admiral Newport gave Powhatan a boy, named Thomas Salvage, in exchange for “Na-montack, his trustie seruant." Spelman says Savage was murderèd by the Indians, but there is a tradition that he lived nearly all his life with them; became possessor of a tract of land on the eastern shore by gift and that it remained in his family until within the last ten years, when it was sold by some of his descendants then living in Philadelphia. The authority for this statement is obtained in correspondence with Hon. Hugh B. Grigsby, LL. D., President of the Virginia Historical Society.

Page 39.—To note to Jordan's Journey it may be added that a reference to this place is doubtless made when Smith says: "After the massacre many of the inhabitants fortified themselves against other attacks, and Master Samuel Iorden gathered but a few about him at Begger's Bush" (the title of one of Fletcher's comedies) "where he fortified."—Smith, p. 150; Campbell, p. 164.

Page 47.—The following may be added to the note on Glass House: "For glass they," the Indians, "knowe not, though the country wants not sal-sodiack enough to make glasse, and of which we have made some store in a goodly house sett up for the same purpose, a little without the island where Jamestown stands."—Strachey's Virginia Brittania (1612), p. 71. "To take care of Capt. Wm. Norton and certaine Italians sent to sitt a glass house."—Instructions to Sir Francis Wyatt (1621), Hening I., p. 116.

Page 47.—To note on Warwick-Scurake add: "In the autumn of 1607, Capt. Smith, with "six or seaven in company," went to Kicoughtan to get food from the Indians by trade. On his return he discovered the town and county of Warraskoyack."—Smith, page 45.
