NORTH ADAMS STATE COLLEGE, NORTH ADAMS, MASS.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1972

CLEP MANDATORY FOR CLASS OF '76

by Marg

The College Level Examination Program (CLEP) is now mandatory for all incoming freshmen.

Following an announcement from Gov. Sargent that no new teachers would be hired in the State College System for 1972-73, the Orientation Committee established last Tuesday that CLEP examinations would help alleviate the problem of overcrowding in freshman courses.

The CLEP program is geared to all college-level courses. Freshmen examinations concern the basic subjects of English composition, history, science, math, and humanities. If a student completes any one of these examinations successfully he will receive credit for that course. No student will be penalized for failing an exam. Conceivably, a student could pass all five of the examinations and receive 30 hours of credit. He would then become a Sophomore upon entrance to the college.

It is hoped that enough around the school. They are due in the Student Affairs Office in Eldridge Hall before March 8.

Essential new equipment, license, and organization will bring the station into operation by September of this year.

The station disbanded after three years of existence because the equipment "simply wore out", said Tom Leonard, General Manager. Posters advertising WNAC gave the call number and suggested "fiddling around with the dial." It was then decided that something had to be done.

Students in the radio club met and drew up a proposal for the student senate. The senate appropriated funds close to $5,000.

AMSLER STUDIES BRITISH EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

Pres. James T. Amsler is visiting England to observe developments in education.

While in England, President Amsler's party will travel to Paris for a three day seminar at UNESCO, the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Overseas arrangements for the trip were made by the Association of Teachers in Colleges and Department of Education, England.

WMPIRG ADVOCATES FEE ON FALL SEMESTER BILL

by Chris McIntosh

NASC students are in the process of organizing a chapter of the student-run, student-funded organization called WMPIRG. The concept of the Western Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group was originated by Ralph Nader, when more college students than he could accommodate expressed a desire for involvement.

WMPIRG will be a cooperative state-wide effort

Administration has designated the card room in Taconic Hall for WMPIRG's use. Paint, building materials and fluorescent lighting has been donated by area proprietors.

Several students sent out literature, including questionnaires to the faculty. A publicity workshop was scheduled for Wednesday as well as an informative session on Thursday to attract student

The college will continue to grow as we will.

Suddenly, before we realized, it was over with the swiftness that it had begun. We, who were together for so long, were to part for even longer. Many of the ties we made we would carry in our memories until the end of our time. But in the sadness of leaving, there is the spirit of a new beginning. And this endless river of knowledge, thought and dream, spreads out through these Berkshire Hills leaving behind an Alma Mater, growing older, and growing golder in the summer setting sun.

Good-bye, North Adams State College.
